Actress Widow Says Husband Was Drunkard

Dorothy Mackaye Testifies That Husband Drank Steadily, Daily.

ALSO DECLARES HE BEAT HER SEVERELY

Counsel In Kelly Murder Trial In Stormy Clash This Morning.

By ARTHUR L. MAREK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, May 14.—Ray Raymond, musical comedy star, for whose death Paul Kelly, film star, is on trial for murder, was pictured today as a drunkard and a wife beater.

The description was supplied by Raymond's widow, Dorothy Mackaye, stage actress, for whose love, the state charges, the strapping Kelly slew the song-and-dance man with his fists.

Raymond drank steadily every day from three or four o'clock in the afternoon until late at night, his widow declared from the witness stand. This had been his habit, she added, for the seven or eight years that she knew him.

Recalls Beating

The actress vividly recalled a beating at the hands of her husband when questioned by defense counsel.

It happened, she remembered, on last New Year's Eve. There had been a "misunderstanding" about meeting her husband after her theatre performance. When she arrived home Raymond dragged her into a clothes closet and beat her with his fists.

"He beat me so severely about the jaws that for several days I had difficulty in eating," the witness explained.

A stormy scene was precipitated when Deputy District Attorney Forest Murray attempted to "refresh" the memory with a purported copy of her statement to the police made shortly after her husband's death.

"Did Kelly tell you he 'clunked' your husband?" the prosecutor asked.

May Have Said It.

"I may have said it," the actress explained. "The statement was made while I was in a terrible mental condition. I can't remember what I did say."

Defense counsel W. I. Gilbert broke in to demand that he be shown the statement. Murray refused and countered with a request to see documents in the possession of the defense. Gilbert flung a brief case across the counsel table and invited the State's attorney to help himself.

The row ended when Superior Judge Charles S. Burnell threatened to send both lawyers to jail.

Dorothy Mackaye Tells Her Story

Facing charges in connection with the same alleged crime herself, Dorothy Mackaye, film actress, told her version on the death of her husband, Ray Raymond, actor, at the murder trial of Paul Kelly. Pictures show her on the stand in a Los Angeles court. The State charges that Kelly, enamored of Miss Mackaye, beat her husband to death.

Under New Civil Service Ruling Many Administrators Will Be Let Out.

COMMISSIONER POST IS STILL UNDECIDED

Lincoln C. Andrews Makes Reservations For Trip To Europe This Summer

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Sweeping changes in the government's list of prohibition administrators were foreshadowed at the treasury today.

Regulations of the civil service commission that to qualify as administrator applicants must have had at least six years of executive experience in positions of responsibility will eliminate a number of the present regional directors, officials said it was also stated that military service in the field will not be credited as meeting the requirements of the commission, excepting where applicants had been staff officers or otherwise engaged on important executive duty.

Several administrators appointed by General L. C. Andrews, dry chief, had field military and naval service, but comparatively few administrators will be able to qualify for jobs until civil service commission rules.

Candidates Certified

Verbal examinations will be given to administrators and other important officers. A list of successful candidates will be certified to the treasury department and from the list of eligibles appointments will be made.

Examinations for subordinate positions and agents in the dry army will be written. Applicants will be required to show particular qualifications for the jobs to which they aspire. Owing to lack of funds some delay is likely in holding of examinations for agents.

Within a few days Secretary Mellon is expected to announce the appointment of a prohibition com-

May Survey Farm For Landing Field

If Land Is Suitable New Castle Would Be Fixed For An Airport

Should the municipal farm possess a stretch of level land large enough for airport purposes, it will not be necessary for the city of New Castle to lease, purchase or condemn ground for this purpose—providing a landing field was desired in this city.

There has been agitation to procure a landing field in New Castle and as Governor Fisher has signed a bill giving power to cities it may act as a stimulus to local agitation though it would not be necessary to acquire land if the municipal farm is adapted for the purpose. It is probable that a survey of the land will be made to determine if it fits with regulations imposed by the government.

Uncover Body Of Chicago Alcohol Dealer, Murdered

Man Suspected Of Turning State's Evidence Is Slain, Body Hidden

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, May 14.—The government's effort to clean up Cicero, the notorious "backyard of Chicago," will be seriously hampered it was said today, as a result of the death of John Castonero, alias Castonova, an alleged alcohol dealer.

Castonero's body was dug up last night from a shallow grave in the dirt floor of a private garage on West Thirtieth street. He was one of 77 men, including the mayor and chief of police of Cicero, indicted by a federal grand jury for alleged liquor law violations.

Police expressed the opinion that Castonero had been "taken for a ride" after it was suspected he would turn state's evidence. He had been missing since January 7.

Cyril Peltier, who recently moved into the bungalow at the front of the garage, found the body. He said he noticed a depression in the floor and when he scraped away the loose dirt he uncovered the body.

Flood Waters Nearing Gulf; More Refugees

Thousands More Added To Army Of Homeless In Louisiana.

TORRENTIAL RAINS ADDING TO PERIL

May Be 100,000 Exiles Added To Refugee List In Next Two Weeks.

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BATON ROUGE, La., May 14.—Through at last with the feeble resistance of man made levees, the flood waters of the Mississippi spread leisurely today over a home stretch to the Gulf of Mexico. Over a whole countryside in South Central Louisiana the river has had its way, from Cairo to Cottonport.

From Cottonport to the Gulf is a matter of ten days disaster, in half a dozen rich and fertile parishes comprising a tillable area of 4,200,000 acres. Within the region reside 258,917 persons.

There are more refugees today; almost 4,000 at Marksville alone, 1,500 at Bunkie, thousands more scattered along the high ground west of the new swath marked for inundation by the crumbling of the Bayou Des Glaises levees.

More homes have been abandoned, more livestock parked hopefully on mushy levees as once again the cycle of the crevasse works itself out in a new country.

State relief headquarters here are organized to care for 100,000 more flood exiles within a fortnight. They hope but do not yet venture the unqualified assertion that this will be the end.

Rains Continue

Torrential rains in the lower valley during the last two days have forced engineers and meteorologists to revise their estimates of maximum high waters between Baton Rouge and New Orleans, and three

Los Angeles Being Put In Condition For New Flight

(International News Service)

NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST, N. J., May 14.—The Dirigible Los Angeles, which searched for the missing French fliers Nungesser and Coli yesterday, was being put in readiness today for a possible new flight within two or three days. The ship came through yesterday's trip in perfect condition and only routine work had to be done on it today.

Lieut. Comm. Charles E. Rosendahl, the commanding officer, took the airship north along the coast to Nantucket lightship, and then searched a wide area of the ocean off that point. Constant watch was maintained along the shores and at sea, but no sign of the missing "White Bird" was found.

Officers and men of the ship were awaiting further news from Washington regarding a possible flight to Newfoundland and Labrador in search of the Frenchmen, but no official communication on the subject has been received. Commander Rosendahl probably will keep the dirigible in its hangar all day today, and is not expected to make another flight before midnight Sunday.

Beware Of 'Rum And Women' Warns Doomed Judd Gray

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONG ISLAND CITY, N. Y., May 14. — Ruth Brown Snyder, who on Monday will be taken in shackles to the death house in Sing Sing has developed "a profound sense of penitence," the Rev. Patrick Murphy, Roman Catholic chaplain, said today after visiting her.

She has not, however, embraced religion as strongly as has her one-time sweetheart, Henry Judd Gray, who also makes the trip "up the river" on Monday. In fact, she confided to one intimate in the Queens County jail that she fears no church nor God can ever forgive her for her sins.

Gray Warns Youth

Gray spends much of his time in his cell on his knees. He assures all those who talk to him that he has "made his peace with God." He will go to Sing Sing absolutely penniless, having signed over everything to his wife. He issued a statement from his cell warning young men to beware of rum and women, saying: "I am one of the best examples of what whiskey, lust and sin will ultimately lead one into."

The condemned woman still clings to the hope expressed by her counsel that she can "beat the sentence and the electric chair." The appeal of her case is expected to be based principally on the court's refusal to grant her a separate trial. Lawyers said that Justice Townsend Scudder's refusal to grant separate trials in the case of Mrs. Snyder and Gray was the first time a court had availed itself of that part of the Baumes Laws giving a judge discretionary powers.

Move to Save Woman

First indication of a movement to save Mrs. Snyder from the chair was seen in a statement issued by Mrs. Virginia Peters Parkhurst,

Dense Fog Hinders Search For Fliers

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The government virtually abandoned today the search for the Nungesser-Coli trans-Atlantic flyers.

Dense fog over the upper Atlantic convinced naval officers that further search of the water was futile, and many ships accordingly were ordered back. Similar action is expected by the coast guard.

At the same time it was announced at the navy department that the proposal to send the dirigible Los Angeles to the bleak Labrador coast is not feasible, and has been abandoned. The principal difficulty was said to be a shortage of helium. The Labrador trip would entail about 2400 miles.

Streitenberger Denies Charges

Trial Of Canton Officer In Editor's Murder To End Monday.

JURY LIKELY TO GET CASE TUESDAY

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., May 14.—Promising to be the shortest of the Don R. Mellett murder cases to date, trial of Floyd E. Streitenberger, ex-police officer of Canton, charged with first degree murder, for alleged complicity in the killing of the youthful publisher of the Canton Daily News here last July 16, will enter the final stages Monday, when the defense is expected to rest. The jury of nine men and three women will probably get the case Tuesday.

Court was adjourned late Friday, over the week-end, after both prosecution and defense had agreed to the intermission.

Taking the stand in his own behalf, Friday afternoon, Streitenberger denied every charge of the state.

He declared he never held enmity against Don Mellett, the slain editor, denied ever seeing Patrick McDermott, convicted slayer of Mellett, previous to McDermott's trial, and denied discussing with Louis Mazer, any plan of attack on the publisher. He characterized Mazer as a "liar and no-account bootlegger."

Jointly indicted for the crime, Mazer turned state's evidence and the prosecution is said to base strongest hope for conviction of the former detective, on his testimony.

Streitenberger asserted Mellett's editorials concerning him "had not worried me any," and that he "didn't think much about them."

Mrs. Streitenberger, the defendant's wife, preceded her husband on the stand and engaged in some lively repartee with Prosecutor Henry Harter.

Stormy Weather Delays Start Of Atlantic Flight

American New York To Paris Fliers Are Held Up By Storm At Sea.

BAD WEATHER MAY LAST FOR 48 HOURS

Keen Interest Being Shown In Chances For Success Of U. S. Fliers.

(International News Service)

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 14.—Storms and fog over the North Atlantic today held up the American airmen who will attempt the 3,600 mile non-stop flight from New York to Paris. Indications were that the bad weather may last at least 48 hours.

Wait On Weather

Clarence D. Chamberlin, Lloyd Bertraud and Commander Richard E. Byrd are waiting patiently, but not so Capt. Charles Lindbergh, the restless young sky pilot, who dropped in from San Diego, Calif., to compete in the big Trans-Atlantic hop. Lindbergh is anxious to get away. He flew across the continent to make the New York-Paris jump and he is chafing under the delay imposed by adverse weather. He is chagrined that a little thing like storm and fog should interfere with a flight over the ocean.

The three planes of the flyers—Columbia, America and Spirit of St. Louis—are all groomed for the flight, but the America will require some more testing before Commander Byrd will be satisfied to undertake the big hop.

In Perfect Condition

Lindbergh, most picturesque of the waiting airmen, has spent a good portion of his time since his arrival at Curtiss Flying Field, overhauling his trim, silver-colored monoplane. It is now pronounced in perfect condition for the flight.

Mrs. Lindbergh, mother of the intrepid young aviator, was to arrive here today from Detroit. She will wish him luck, say good-bye and give him a mother's blessing before he jumps off on his trans-ocean voyage.

The keen international interest in the dramatic contest to span the Atlantic in a single jump is shown by the great numbers of messages being received from all parts of the world. News from Paris shows that the Americans will get a great and friendly reception if they make the flight successfully.

Continue Search

New York, May 14.—Another 24 hours have passed without any trace being found of the missing French aviators, Capt. Charles Nungesser and Capt. Francois Coli, who hopped off from Paris last Sunday. Search for them was continued today over the North Atlantic and across Newfoundland. Navy Department officials have not yet sanctioned a flight by the dirigible Los Angeles along the Labrador coast, but it may be made next week if weather conditions improve.

Eleven And Half Million For Flood Sufferers Raised

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The national drive of the American Red Cross for flood relief funds reached $11,478,555 today. The goal is $15,000,000.

Looks like rain as I'm writing this, the fact is its starting now, and the baseball fans and the golfing nuts will be feeling down hearted I trow. For Saturday ought to be sunny and dry, with never a vestige of shower, and save the fans their weekly peeve and cut out their growling and glower. Now you and I don't care so much (but gosh I would like to play) for we know that its life to the lettuce and spuds and health to the clover and hay. So we sweetly smile (but we're warm inside) at the rain as it spoils a date but never a cheep will they hear from us (how's that) weather's fifty-eight.

Lawrence County Will Get $48,223.35 Share Of State-Aid Road Fund

Lawrence county will receive state highways appropriation for state-aid roads, according to announcement by J. L. Stuart, secretary of highways.

Under the provisions of a bill recently approved by Governor Fisher appropriations are made from the motor license fund in the sum of $5,000,000 for state-aid construction. This appropriation is allocated to the several counties of the state on a mileage basis.

Lawrence county with a total mileage of county and township roads of 760 miles receives $48,223.35 as her share of the $5,000,000. Mercer county with a mileage of 1,504 received $95,431.47; Beaver county with a mileage of 967 received $61,357.87; Butler county with a mileage of 1,688 receives $107,106.60.

The amounts allocated the counties from the state-aid appropriation represent the state's money and when matched by the local authorities with a like amount will permit of construction being undertaken with a contract value of twice the amount of the allocation to each county.

When Lawrence county matches the state with her share there would be $96,446.70 available for construction. According to the amount it takes to build a mile of concrete road that would allow for almost 2½ miles of concrete road to be built.

Fisher Concludes Signing Of Bills

Governor Completes Thirty Day Task Of Reviewing Over Thousand Bills.

FISHER VETOES 177 MEASURES

By WILLIAM B. BROWN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 14. — In signing fourteen bills and vetoing twenty-three Gov. John S. Fisher today ended the thirty day struggle which he has fought with the more than a thousand bills which the 1927 legislature left to him.

Included in the list of approvals was the Senator Bonbrake election law commission measure. The bill provides for a commission of nine members who are directed to study all existing election laws and make recommendations to the 1929 legislature. Five of the members will be appointed by the governor. It also will include the president pro tempore of the senate, the speaker of the house and the chairman of the election committees in both houses.

The bill providing for the commission was introduced in the legislature at the time all election law revision was slated for debate. It was intended to quiet the public demand for clean elections by moving the entire subject forward another two years. Protests for action during the session resulted in the passage of three of Governor Fisher's bills. After the speech of Senator George Woodward calling the resolution a "snare and a sop" little was heard of it after it passed.

An appropriation of $20,000 for the work and expenses of the commission is provided in the bill.

The governor considered 1076 bills in all, approving 494 general laws and 247 appropriations. He vetoed 177 bills, the remainder on the list being recalls or duplicates.

DINNER STORIES

A Golfer's Alibi.

On the St. Andrews links an enthusiastic player with a most irascrible temper was faced with a critical short putt. He addressed his ball, studied the line, steadied himself carefully, putted—and missed.

Instinctively he glared round but the entire party might have been so many statues—not a caddie had moved, not a player had budged. His eyes roved the horizon in vain. No one outside the match was in sight. Then he gazed aloft, while breathless silence invested the scene. At last the explosion came:

"Damn that lark!"

Declined With Thanks

"How about a little ride, cutie?"

"Are you going north?"

"Yes, I am."

"Give my regards to the Eskimos."

A Musical Affair

"Tom has become a musician of some note."

"Is that right?"

"Yes, he bought an instrument on installments and is still paying the notes."

Pupils Who Passed Examinations Will Be Announced Soon

Consolidated School Pupils Make The Best Showing In Recent Examinations

County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, has about completed checking up the examinations for entrance to high schools of the county. It is expected that the list will be announced some time next week.

In some districts all of those examined passed, while in others only a part. The percentage of failures runs from none up to as high as 51 per cent. It's noticeable that most of the failures were in one room school buildings, pupils in the centralized schools, making the best records. When the examinations were given what is known as the Otis test, was given in addition to the regular list of questions on the elementary branches.

The Otis questions are designed for a general intelligence test. That is worked out is shown by the papers. Nearly all of the pupils who made good marks in the general examination, also stood high on the Otis test. The majority of those who failed to pass the examinations got low marks on the Otis test.

"Migratory Child Bill" Is Vetoed

Governor Expresses Regret That Defective Title Of Bill Caused Veto

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG Pa., May 14.—Expressing regret that the title of the bill was defective and therefore unconstitutional, Gov. John S. Fisher today vetoed the Sterling House Bill which would have prevented the employment of children in this state while they should be at school in another. It was known as the "Migratory Child Bill."

The bill was aimed at the daily importation of minors who work in Pennsylvania factories during the day and return to bordering states at night where their parents have legal residence. The governor went into detail in pointing out the various places at which the title was defective and then said. "I regret that this is."

The governor also vetoed the measure of representative Metzinger, Philadelphia, which would have eliminated the present exemption of $300 in levy and sale on execution and distress for rent.

"It would impose an undue hardship on the poor and unfortunate to permit all of the household goods of a family to be sold for tax claims," the governor said.

NEW STATE MOTOR CODE

THERE will be plenty of time for motorists to study and become familiar with the Motor Code signed by Governor Fisher.

It does not become effective until January 1, 1928, but there seems no reason why a considerable amount of the work of preparation should not be done before that time. In its designation of a uniform "stop," "go" and "caution" series of traffic lights, for instance, the code has served notice upon every local community to get in line with the rest of the state.

Regulations for the making of left-hand turns also are divergent in many communities. Left-hand turns under the code will be made from the left-hand traffic lane. Another most important development under the code is the right to designate "through traffic" streets where vehicles proceeding in either direction will have the right of way over all intersecting movements.

This may bring some very important changes in the handling of traffic. The reduced and "straightaway" speed limits are increased from fifteen to twenty and from thirty to thirty-five miles an hour, but experience in other states would indicate that the danger to pedestrians or other vehicular operators is not increased. The fact is that these speeds are now being maintained, technically in violation of the law, but actually by such a vast preponderance of motorists that the new limits may be considered as having "proved themselves." They are in accord also with the uniform motor code recommended at the national conference called by Secretary of Commerce Hoover last summer.

In fact, the original draft of the Pennsylvania Code proposed to duplicate the national code, but local opinions and prejudices changed it very radically both by eliminations and additions.

Read the resume of the code in this issue of The News.

PAYING THE LENDERS

NEXT November the United States treasury will redeem all remaining bonds of the second Liberty loan. The sum involved —almost $1,700,000,000—is beyond the grasp of most laymen; and even in the field of corporate enterprise no funding transaction approaching this magnitude has ever taken place. Certainly, redemption of these bonds will stand as the major financial operation of the year.

The bonds to be presented for payment or exchange constitude a portion of one of those five great loans which furnished the United States with the financial sinews needed for efficient participation in the World War. Those loans initiated a new epoch in American finance, for in the heat of fervid patriotism and with the aid of unprecedented selling efforts they were made popular in the original meaning of that word, and they taught millions of Americans the meaning of security investments.

The Victory bonds have been paid off, and now one of the four Liberty loans is nearing maturity. The people loaned their government money in its hour of need, and now, in accord with the terms of the contract, the government announces its readiness to acquit itself of its obligation.

And the means of spreading the news of the redemption are little less extensive than the original selling campaign; but, whereas the latter was to help the government, the purpose now is to protect the small bondholder from losing interest after November 15, the date of maturity. Newspaper advertising, the radio, magazines, postoffice placards, banks and other mediums are to be used to tell every owner of a bond of the second Liberty loan that the government will buy their bond at its face value on November 15 and that interest on the bond will stop on that day.

STREET CARS

CONTRADICTING a popular belief, the American Electric Railway Association reports that the electric railways in this country carried 230,000,000 more passengers last year than in 1925.

This is conclusive evidence that the trolley car is not only holding its own, but is forging rapidly ahead despite the increasing use of the automobile. Many miles of electric lines have been abandoned in the last decade and hundreds are now operating at a loss, so the increased business is not general.

Five years ago a great many managers of electric transportation systems felt that the privately owned motor car was destined to react unfavorably against their properties. For a while it appeared that the public was turning toward the motor car for personal and business transportation. The specter of bus competition also hovered ominously in the picture, and trolley line operators were not resting easily.

Now it seems the automobile is bringing about a wide return to street car travel. Many motorists find it more convenient and quicker to run city errands by street car than to worm their way by motor through congested streets and hunt futilely for parking space.

Street railway systems will continue to be part of the transportation scheme. Buses, of course, will carry their share of the traffic even though they, like the automobile, must fight the battles of congested streets. The trolley car has proved itself to be the most effective agent for the transportation of large numbers of people with economy, safety and dispatch.

There is a place for all things, and the railroad, electric railway, motor bus, automobile and truck each can perform some transportation need better than the other.

If there is any real merit in the agitation for Sacco and Vanzetti, it would be well to give serious consideration to their cases. But it looks as though the radicals and malcontents are merely using them to further own selfish ends. The fact that the communists abroad are making so much fuss about the coming execution is proof enough to us that it is all propaganda. But we think the State of Massachusetts is too big to be bulldozed by the long-haired, red minded boys.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 7:09. Sun rises tomorrow 4:43.

Tickets for the great Charity Ball to be given for the benefit of the Mississippi Flood Sufferers can be had at The News office. They are One Dollar each. You can get as many as you want here.

The director of public works in Pittsburgh says he has a lot of trouble caused by men coming to work drunk. He is going to try firing them when they come that way. That ought to help some if he fires enough of them.

It might seem strange but it is a fact nevertheless that women are spending more money now for fewer clothes.

A village is a place where everybody is thoughtful enough to step over the dogs asleep on the walk.

In most all cases of mysterious murders the teeth cut a big figure in the identification of the victim. Of course this does not mean that dentistry has the first call, but even a bum job can be recognized as well as a good one.

A white woman in Kansas is charged with kidnapping an aged Indian who cannot speak English. Yes, the Indian has a lot of money.

You may have noticed in the Gray-Snyder murder trial that the mothers of the murderers were right on the job sympathizing with the criminals. They were still the children of the mothers and the mothers are there even when the whole world turns away. Great are the mothers.

A New Jersey man aged 45, who had married a young wife, shot and killed her and slept on the bed with her dead body for two nights before he confessed. His reason for the deed was that she had a younger affinity. Girls don't marry an old man, even if he has money.

A very rich Chicago lady says she and her husband are not taking a "Maritial vacation." Sometimes it is a good thing for husbands and wives not to see each other for some time as it gives both of them a rest.

They were motoring into the back country. "Were you ever pinched for going too fast?" asked the girl, "No" he answered truthfully. "But I've been slapped."

I have a friend in Florida, a four-year-old boy for whom I used to buy ice cream cones when he was here. On his birthday last month I sent him a $1 bill as a down payment on a Florida ice cream cone. Yesterday I received a reply from him saying that prices were not so high now in Florida. He returned 75 cents.

The old-fashioned New Castle boy who used to get hail Columbia for wearing his hat in the house now has a son who won't even wear one on the street. Saw exactly seven young hatless goofs on Washington street Saturday. But we must be merciful to them.

Oh, Boy, if it was just as easy for people to raise taxes as it is for the legislature. Wouldn't that be fine.

Gov. Fisher has signed the bill changing the speed limit for automobiles on the highways of this commonwealth from 30 to 35 miles per hour. Some of the old boats will have trouble making the new speed. There ought to be a law fining a lot of bimbos on the road for going too slow and holding up traffic.

Bathing girls and similiar stickers are now also prohibited on the windshield of automobiles in this state. Those driving cars have enough on what little minds some have without having it detracted by the picture of a bathing girl in front of their beaks.

At a dinner given for American congressmen in Manilla a few nights ago a row started and the American congressmen, Democrats of course, were the cause of the fuss. Those birds ought to confine their fighting to Washington where people expect it and where it does not attract so much attention.

A Pittsburgh man has brought suit to have his still returned to him as it was illegally seized by prohibition officers. We are interested in the result of his efforts, because it is against the law to even own a still in this state. We are anxious to see what becomes of that law.

The State Federation of Labor in session at Harrisburg last week went on record as favoring a modification of the Volstead law, condemned military training camps, favored the abolishing of the state police and demanded the right for peaceful picketing during strikes. Those gentlemen do not seem to be pleased with any of the good things we enjoy in Pennsylvania. Of course there is Russia. They do not have any of these things in Russia.

There has been quite a change in the methods of raising children in the past 25 years in America. In these days the mother feeds the little chaps raw vegetables and in the old days our mamas fed us raw meat.

There are still thousands of people in this city who have not bought a ticket to the Flood Sufferers Ball to be given in the Scottish Rite Cathedral Tuesday night. It is surprising how many people just simply do not care for anybody or anything. It is still time to buy at least one ticket tightwad! That ought to hit a few thousand.

Now comes the story of a New Castle flapper who was called to her home in the country to see her father who was ill. Next day her flappery chum inquired: "Did you find your old man?" "Oh, yep" she answered, "I knowed where he lived."

All things may come to him who waits, but then again they are likely to go on past. The best way is to get out where you can be seen and stop the things as they go by.

Some one has made the smart remark that the barber shop quartet has at least two soprano voices, and that isn't any kid either.

A judge has laid down the rule that people who lose their tempers shouldn't play bridge. Not only bridge, but every other game, is the way we want to amend the ruling. The persons who lose their tempers are not the ones we like to play with.

You And I.

If you would smile a litle more
And I would kinder be;
If you would stop to think before
You speak of faults you see;
If I would show more patience, too
With all with whom I'm hurled,
Then I would help and so would you,
To make a better world.
If you would cheer your neighbor more
And I'd encourage mine,
If you would linger at her door
To say her work is fine,
And I would stop to help her when
Her lips in frowns are curled,
Both you and I would be helping then
To make a better world
But just as long as you keep still
And plod your selfish way,
And I rush on and heedless kill
The kind of words I could say,
While you and I refuse to smile,
And keep our gay flags furled,
Some one will grumble all the while
That it's a gloomy world

If you have any doubt as to the lack of brains among humans just remeber that 63 percent of all crossing accidents occur in the open country where there are no obstructions to the view.

Local reformers have started worrying over what the bathing girls won't wear this summer.

A noted health commissioner recommends, as a means of getting the benefit of sunlight, wearing just as little as the law allows. Explorations are being made every day to determine just how little the law will allow and that is the reason for the present styles.

Among the other proofs that travel is a great educator is what you learn when you pay your bill at a hotel that advertises 150 outside rooms, every room with a bath, as low as $2.50.

Man has yet to invent a floor polisher more efficient than an infant.

It seems to be about time to shake the moth balls out of the summer clothes and go out and let the sun shine through you.

So far no thefts have been reported from the circus that played here several days ago and that is real good news. It will encourage many people to go to the circus for they know they won't have their purses snatched or pockets picked. If the robbery is done in a genteel and commercial way, there is never any beefing. Frequently we have bought as high as nine peanuts for a dime, but still go back for more.

Not only can money talk, but it has few equals, if any, as a singer. It sings a tune that will put almost any conscience to sleep most any time.

American prosperity is not only shown by the income tax returns it is proven beyond a doubt. And the number of democrats who have filed big fat returns show that they too are sharing in the republican good times.

It is about time now for the Mother of Invention to do something for the Father of Waters.

Russia is a country bigger than ours, and probably at least as rich in resources. But wealth means nothing unless you have men that know how to get it out, use it and multiply it. Remember that, if inclined to criticize the very rich.

The man who can say, "Dig there, and you will find gold—or coal," is at least as important as the man that digs.

Russia's national income tax for six months is $850,000,000. That would not be a financial flea bite in this favored land. We have the stuff in the ground, and the mines, and the men, machinery and brains that know how to get it out.

Russia will have them also, and when she gets rich, she will become conservative—that is how human nature works — from Nijni-Novgorod to Broad and Wall Street.

That Governor Martin has rendered great services to Florida in financing $10,000,000 of Everglades drainage is shown by S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard railway, who assisted in negotiating the financing with Dillon, Read and Eldridge & Co.

This drainage will dispose of surplus waters from Lake Okechobee, and open to agricultural development 4,000,000 acres of the most wonderfully fertile land on earth, lying along the southeastern crest of Florida, and the Saint Lucie canal, as far east as Stuart.

In Plymouth church, Brooklyn, on a Sunday morning, long ago, Henry Ward Beecher presented a young negro slave girl to his congregation, and proceeded to sell her at public auction, asking for gifts totaling $900, the sum necessary to buy the girl's freedom.

Beecher imitated the manner and speech of a slave auctioneer and more than $900 was raised. Rose Terry, a writer, put a valuable ring in the plate, and Beecher, putting it on the girl's finger, said "With this ring I thee wed—to freedom."

Beecher is dead, but the good work that he did lives on. And next Sunday morning, when Plymouth church celebrates its eightieth anniversary, the former slave girl, sold at public auction in that church, will be present, a happy old grandmother, married to a prosperous negro lawyer of Washington, D. C.

Congratulations are due Secretary of War Davis for his mobilization of airplanes at San Antonio from all over the country. With no fatal accident, 103 planes have gathered at the rendezvous, flying a total of more than 200,000 miles. And when the fliers return to their bases the total flight will exceed 400,000 miles.

Especially gratifying was the achievement of the swift pursuit plane formation, the fliers driving on through fog and storm, 1,300 miles in one day, the longest flight ever accomplished by so large a body of fliers.

Experts from Newfoundland give faint hope that Nungesser and his companion may be alive. If by good fortune, they have landed in Newfoundland, it might take many days for them to reach a settlement. Hardy courageous men, they would be able to endure and survive great hardships.

Meanwhile men on this side are preparing for the same Paris-New York flight eastward. Bertaud, in his Bellanca plane, is ready. Lindbergh, who flew here from St. Louis in his Ryan plane, is prepared to move straight on to Paris.

Commander Byrd, first to fly over the North Pole, is almost ready for his ocean flight. Some one of the three will undoubtedly succeed, but it would have pleased this country better had the brave Frenchmen landed safely, winning the great honor.

Bible Thought For Today

LIFE'S SUPREME PURPOSE:—As for me, O Lord, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness. Psalm 17:15.

PRAYER:—Transform us daily, Lord, into thine own likeness, and let that mind be in us which was also in Jesus Christ.

Francesco Saverio Nitti, who may be deprived of his citizenship because of his opposition to Fascism and the policies of Mussolini, is a veteran Italian statesman who served for a time as premier. Signor Nitti is a native of Melfi. He was graduated in law and became professor of financial science and financial law at the University of Naples. His political career began with his election to the Chamber of Deputies in 1909. During the war he represented his Government in the Allied conferences at Paris and in 1917 he visited the United States as a member of the commission sent by Italy to work out various economic problems. Signor Nitti has published several works on finance, and some of his books have been translated into other languages. Much of his public activity has been for the development of Italian industries.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

BLUE LAWS

They have been having trouble down in South Carolina with their blue laws. Old laws that have been upon the statute books forbidding golf and other innocent diversions have been discovered and enforced.

Laws have to be kept up to date as well as other things. The complexion and structure of society, as well as the opinions held by the majority of its citizens, alter with time.

Laws compelling people of the present day to do what in former days it was thought should not have been done are not popular.

Law is nothing but crystallized custom. Its purpose is to keep every one from unduly disturbing his fellows.

There is a law against stealing and murder and arson for the simple reason that these things interfere with the rights of other people and not because they are morally wrong.

The first duty of society and its first impulse is to protect itself. Sometimes it goes to the extreme and laws are passed requiring everybody to keep step whether they want to or not.

Just how far the individual must be compelled to act like his fellows is a question that requires the careful judgment of competent authorities.

The instinct of personal liberty, which is in all of us, demands that a man have a right to act and think as he pleases, but that is limited by the rights of other people. He is not to infringe upon them.

In the days when most of the people went to church it was right perhaps for others not to disturb them, but if the complexion of society changes and more people are found upon the golf links than in church on Sundays, what right has the minority to control the majority.

All the trouble with blue laws has been caused by digging up laws passed by a former generation and making them apply to this.

There must be evolution in law as in everything else.

Law is essentially a rule of conduct and its purpose is to keep the social machine in order and to prevent the minority from disturbing the majority.

If the opinion of the majority has changed and what was wrong five hundred years ago becomes innocent diversion now, the laws should be changed in regard to it.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

NOT MUCH DIFFERENT.

Does the world change? Do the people of the world change? Is the youth of twenty today better equipped physically and mentally than the youth of twenty living a hundred years ago? Is the present generation more daring, more adventurous, more willing to take chances than the youth of the last, or many generations ago? Probably not. Times change, and we change with them. Just because we today live in a Mechanical Age, dominated by automobiles and aeroplanes, does not mean that the brains of our Age are better, or the hearts stronger in this Age, than in any other Age.

The editor of Nation's Business recounts that a captain of twenty-one took a brig to China, bought a cargo, and carried it to South America, and sold it. A boy of eighteen captained a schooner down to Norfolk, loaded it with coal, and returned to Boston, and sold it. A United States Senator from a New England state, as a boy of nineteen, was captain of a ship on a voyage to the Far East, which he reached after a series of thrilling incidents. There he sold his cargo, bought another, and returned home. His companions on the voyage were a mate of twenty, a clerk of eighteen, and a second mate of twenty-four. Another, I think the son of a New Bedford Merchant, age eighteen commanded a ship on a voyage to the Baltic, and made a honeymoon voyage of it, by taking along his young bride of a few days. Then there was another, John Boyt, Jr., who in 1794 commanded a 64 foot sloop "Union" on a voyage from Boston around Cape Horn to the Northwest coast, where he bought a load of furs, which he sold in China. After loading with China silks and China tea, he returned home by way of the Cape of Good Hope, thus circumnavigating the Globe. And this was accomplished without any of the modern aids of navigation, by a mature sailor of nineteen.

All of this was done at the close of the eighteenth, and at the beginning of the nineteenth century, more than a hundred years ago. They are interesting, as says the Editor, and yet last Summer four college boys sailed a schooner much smaller than the "Union" across the Atlantic to Cowes, participated in an ocean race to Fastnet, on the Irish coast, and returned safely home.

TRUTH AND FICTION

I know a man who loves his wife
And all his children three;
There's much within his daily life
That's beautiful to see.
He kisses them, I dare to say,
At morning when he goes away.

I've watched him through the years, and I
Have watched his children, too;
They've waved at me in passing by,
As neighbors often do.
A younger woman dressed in red,
I'm sure, has never turned his head.

His hair is now a silver gray,
His wife still seems to smile;
I know that grief has come this way,
For back a little while
I saw the crepe upon their door,
And then a mourning band he wore.

I think I'd like to write a book
About this man I know,
Who's neither rascal, drunkard, crook;
But if I tried to show
A man devoted to his wife,
They'd say: "It isn't true to life!"

MY TOWNS—KANSAS CITY

In my boyhood, Kansas City was Mecca. It was the city toward which every ambitious Kansas boy turned his eyes, and upon which he centered his hopes. It was the city to which every Wichita industry, in those days, eventually moved, if the volume of the industry's business became at all large.

Most of the farmers of the Arkansas river valley in those days fed hogs or cattle for the market. At least once a year they shipped their finished product to the Kansas City stockyards. The adventurous and ambitious boys spent months scheming and plotting to get themselves taken along as helpers in caring for the stock in transit. Thus they saw Kansas City. They returned with wondrous tales about the height, breadth and toughness of the big city. I listened thrilled. But I did not get to Kansas City. My father sold his hogs and cattle on the Wichita market.

Years later, as a newspaper reporter in Wichita, I saw the older, more or less finished reporters, all striking out for Kansas City, to work on the Star or Journal. But it so chanced that my next move was northward, to Omaha, and it was some years before I had a chance to look over the Mecca that I had heard so much about in my youth.

• • •

Kansas City is up to its advance notices. It has the most metropolitan air for a city of its size that I know anything about. It has tall buildings, busy streets, diversified scenery, wonderful boulevards, and the noisiest trolley cars under heaven.

Kansas City is about the right size for an ambitious young man. It is not so big as to swallow up the individual, and yet big enough to offer plenty of competition. It is always growing, and will continue to grow so long as railroads are important avenues of commerce, for nearly all railroads cross in the Kansas City terminal.

Even that, however, is not the measure of Kansas City's future. The forward-looking citizens of that town have seen the possibilities of air-borne commerce, and they have completed a magnificent airport to take care of the business in its early stages of development. When cities are being made by air-borne commerce, Kansas City will be ready for her share of the growth.

I like Kansas City. By the way, I've been talking all the time about Kansas City, Missouri. Kansas City Kansas, is another city—and a wonder, too.

Completing Plans For Mardi Gras, Tuesday; Not "Masked Ball"

Friday the thirteenth seemed to be a good day for contributions for the Mississippi Flood Relief Fund, some $250.00 being sent in raising the funds already in to about $5175.00. This amount is expected to be increased Sunday morning when the churches of the city will take a Flood Relief collection.

The larger amounts turned in this morning are: Wimodausis, $100.00, Women's club $50.00, New Castle Lodge 609, Order B'nai Brith, $25, cash $25, Mary C. Ward $25, M. A. Markley, State theatre $20, Women's Benefit Association, Order of Maccabees $5.00.

Donations Increasing.

The women of Mrs. C. J. Kirk's committee who have been soliciting the merchants of the city for prizes for the Charity Ball and Mardi Gras have been having unusual success and report that not one out of 20 are refusing to donate some article, and that donation cheerfully. As a result, the music room of the Kirk home looks like a warehouse and among the prizes are some articles of much value. These will be given as prizes for the Bingo game, wheels and other sports.

The ball and mardi gras will start in the ball room and dining rooms of the Scottish Rite Cathedral Tuesday evening, May 17, with every inch of the spacious place being used.

The ball will be in the two huge ball rooms with the Penn-Castle Roamers playing. The ticket sale at the door will be in charge of Ivor M. Richards. The lunch and refreshment counter in one of the dining rooms will be in charge of John Elliott and Howard Irwin, while the candy, cake and flower booths will be in charge of Mrs. C. J. Kirk and her committees.

Over in the other dining room will be the "Arena" in which many forms of indoor sports will be conducted. These will be in charge of B. N. Hanlon, L. B. McAneny and William G. Fleming. In the large room east of the refreshment stand will be the Order of the Flood with Howard B. Richards in charge.

Billy Williams will have charge of the entertainment during the ball and interspersing the dances will be musical and entertainment numbers. The Tin City Quartet will sing, the Where Do You Work Boys will present the reigning popular number "Where Do You Worka John," Billy Williams will be heard in some solos, and William Wray has promised to have several young ladies present special anesthetic dance numbers. Santos Ortega will present some special readings.

Tickets are being sold at a dollar each, and all ticket salesmen are urged to get their tickets disposed of and the money turned in to Miss Jessie Wilson, executive secretary American Red Cross, room 301, Temple building, North street opposite the post office.

Tickets will be on sale at the door on Tuesday evening and those who have not purchased tickets by that night can do so on their admission to the building.

Apparently, everything is "all set" for the big night. Mayor William H. Dunlap, general chairman of the affair has promised that traffic will be well taken care of about the cathedral and that officers will be on duty watching the cars.

In some manner the idea has gotten out that the Charity Ball and Mardi Gras will be a masque affair. This is not so. No masques will be worn on account of the weather being rather warm, or is expected to be. Every man, woman and child should have a ticket to the affair whether or not he attends, for the proceeds are to be sent to the relief of the flood stricken southerners.

Company B Men Attend Banquet

Formal "Mustering In" Of Engineers Is Delayed Until May 23

Muster of Company "B" 125th Engineers was postponed from Friday, May 13th to Monday, May 23, a ten-day extension having been granted by the Adjutant General of Pennsylvania, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce and the civilian committee interested in the affairs of the Company.

So instead of being mustered into service Friday the members of Company "B" attended a banquet at the Eveready Inn. Every member of Company "B" attended the affair which was the most enthusiastic "feed" and get-to-gether that has been held by the old or new outfit.

Quite a number of guests were present, including Mr. Fred Rentz of The New Castle "News," Mr. Chilton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Kennedy of the People's Saving and Trust company, Dr. W. F. Jackson, Ira Ramsey, city treasurer; Captain Melvin L. Craig of the regular army and others. These men brought encouraging messages with them that with the civic support that is now and has been given the company the future of the company is assured. The men of the company are enthusiastic over the prospects and are backing up their officers in all they are trying to do and if the present attitude of the members of the company continues the success of the new outfit is certain.

The strength of the company is 40 men at the present time, with approximately five more that we are certain of so there is no doubt in mind but what the company will be completely ready for muster of May 23rd.

Certain industries and individuals of the city have assured their employes that they will not be the loser financially by attending camp in the summer and this is bringing in a number of men who have the desire to become members of the company but felt they could not afford to lose the time and money to do so. In a majority of the cases this difficulty has been taken care of and any man who has hesitated on this account is urged to come to the Armory and talk it over. Further, due to the fact that the company is made up principally of specialists the average man's camp pay is larger than is usual.

The next drill will be held next Friday, May 20, but in the meantime the armory will be open throughout the day and evening. Visitors and prospective recruits are welcome at any time.

There are a number of young men in New Castle who have a desire to receive an appointment to West Point. A civilian who desires to enter West Point must secure a political appointment and these appointments are few and hard to get. Every year men of the National Guard are given the opportunity to take the entrance examination and at the present time there are a large number of Cadets at West Point who were former National Guards' men and secured their opportunity through the National Guard. This opportunity is open to any member of the National Guard who feels he has the educational qualifications required. A political appointment is unnecessary, membership in a National Guard organization, plus educational and physical qualifications, are all that is necessary for an opportunity to take the entrance examination. Membership in Company "B" is YOUR opportunity.

The West's present attitude seems to be that soft words butter no third terms.

PARIS FLYER IS DARING PILOT

C. A. Lindbergh, army and air mail pilot, is among the most daring of the aviators entered in the New York to Paris non-stop flight race. Four times Lindbergh has been caught in falling or burning planes, each time jumping to safety with a parachute. While enroute to New York from San Diego, Calif., prior to his ocean attempt, Lindbergh stopped off at St. Louis, Mo., where his plane was christened the "Spirit of St. Louis." Above, single-motored monoplane is seen in flight, and the inset is of Lindbergh.

Actual Building Of Wampum Bridge Not Likely This Year

In the opinion of the county commissioners it is not likely that there will be anything done toward the actual construction of the proposed Wampum bridge during the present year. This is due to the fact that it takes so long to get approval of the state department.

Briefs and arguments on the proportion of costs that should be borne by the county and the different railroad companies interested before the public service commission in March. So far no action has been taken and it is uncertain when anything will be done. By the time approval is given and plans and specifications are ready it is likely to be too late in the fall to begin any actual operations.

Troop 7

Troop 7 of the Boy Scouts met Thursday evening, May 12. A good program which was drawn up by Rev. Scripture, the scoutmaster, was carried out and a number of points were captured by three of the four patrols of the troop.

The first contest was a speed puzzle. The Flying Eagles and the Ravens won over the Wolf and Fox patrols and thus obtaining one point each. The Ravens also received five points for fulfilling the duties assigned to them. They were the only troop to finish the tasks assigned. The Wolf patrol received six points for good turns and one point for having the most of any patrol during the week, as they chalked up 86 points during the week. They also received five points for every members that had received over seven points. The Flying Eagles also received five points for each member that received more than seven points.

The Fox patrol was left out of any points at all. The standing of the four patrols is still the same with the exception that the Fox patrol holding second place is getting in dangerous territory as the Ravens are gaining fast.

E. And A. Division Is Making Record

Safety Program Is Being Carried Out With Excellent Result

A record impossible to beat is being made by the E. & A. division of the Pennsylvania railroad in their safety first campaign, for all through the month of April and now for half of May they have not had a single reportable accident.

This is made more evident when it is recalled that during the month of April last year the local division had 26 reportable accidents as compared with a clean slate this year.

The record is quite remarkable when it is considered how many employees are on the roster of the division. It is certainly remarkable to employ over 35,000 men and women in as hazardous an occupation as railroading for over 6 weeks without a single one losing over 3 days on account of any accident. (An accident to be reportable must cause the loss of over 3 days time).

It is shown what can be done by "taking thought." For in the campaign started this year, it is being brought before the men in every way possible that they must be careful. Competition charts are placed in each department and gold stars are added for each safe day. By talks, posters, meetings and individual advice the men are being trained to be careful.

Special recognition and congratulations has been received by the local division in letters from the general superintendent, P. L. Grove and the general manager, C. I. Leiper.

A great effort is being made by each one to extend the record through the month of May and on into June. The slogan is taken, "Having done it once, we can do it again."

All compliments received are the property of the person giving them and should be returned.

Most people are such silly creatures. Few are sensible enough to believe exactly as you do.

The essays for the Daughters of the American Revolution Contest have been turned in to the office of the school. They are now in the hands of the committee to judge. About 20 were turned in.

CONCERT

The annual concert given by the Senior high school band and orchesta will be held this year May 24 in the Franklin junior high auditorium. A very fine special attraction for this event is Graham McNamee, best known radio announcer in the United States, stationed as a rule with station WEAF, New York, who will be present to sing a few numbers for those present and give a short talk on "Reminiscences of Radio."

MAY DAY PAGEANT

The second May Day Pageant is being planned and worked on in the schools throughout the city, especially in the Senior High, as the musical department finds it necessary to put a shoulder to the wheel and do some more work. J. E. Paton, a teacher of musical instruments in the school, as well as LaVerne Irvine, director of music in the school, is working on an arrangement of musical numbers for this event, to be held May 26, at the Franklin field, beginning at 2:15 p. m. It cannot really be called May Day this year as no queen will be selected, it is more of a demonstration of physical education. Miss Ruth Totman, physical director of the New Castle schools has charge.

All schools of the city will take part with the Senior High school band furnishing the music.

The first rehearsal will be held Wednesday, May 17, at 3:30 on the Franklin Field.

TO PLAY

For the third year, the New Castle high school band will go to Slippery Rock to play for their graduating exercises to be held June 7.

MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The musical department of the school will not be found wanting when ever a thing for the good of school, city, county, state, or country is to be done. This time it is for those who are caught in the flooded part of the United States that the band and Senior orchestra will work. Following is a list of things they will do:

Tonight—Senior high band will march in Red Cross parade.

Tuesday—The band will play in the portico of the Cathedral during the Charity ball given in the interest of the flood victims.

A special orchestra will play during the moving picture show to be given in the Cathedral at the same time as the ball.

MEETS FORMER PRINCIPAL

La Verne Irvine returned recently from judging a contest in glee club and orchestra music held at New Kensington. Other judges were A. S. Fillmore, vocal teacher, Pittsburgh, George McMurtis of Pittsburgh.

While there, Mrs. Irvine met Edwin McCormick, former principal of Highland Avenue school who is now supervising principal of Parnassus Public schools. It is interesting to note that the Parnassus school took first honors both in the glee club and orchestra music.

COMMERCIAL CONTEST

Several students of the Senior high were excused early Friday so that they could go to Indiana State Normal to take part in the Commercial Contest being held there today. Following are those who represent the local school for honors:—Margaret Mangieri, Hazel Bergland, Rose Sander, Mary Emma Daview, Nellie Harlan, Mary Martin and Clara Tranquillo.

The following teachers will travel with the school students as chaperones:—Mrs. Cheer, Mr. Book and Mr. Miller.

"The Curse of Disobedience," Genesis 3rd Chapter. God Says the Seventh Day is the Sabbath, Exodus 20:10.

Satan tells us the first day—he calls Sunday the first day, Lord's Day, new dispensation, Sabbath and all kinds of sugar-coated names. Jesus said: Take heed that no man deceive you. Matt. 24:4. Saturday is not the Jewish Sabbath day—the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord. Everyone that defileth it shall surely be put to death; for whosoever doeth any work therein, that soul shall be cut off from among his people. The Ten Commandments were written with the finger of God. Exodus 31:12-18. It is the law of God—not the Jewish law. If Jesus had given us another day He would have spoken of it. Hebrew 4. L. Former Resident Buys Business Here

Expansion Movement Brings Former Resident Back To Home Community

According to Mike Melder of the Rigby-Melder Company, one of the results of the spirit being shown in the city expansion movement at the present time, has resulted in the return to New Castle of T. B. Waddington, a former citizen, and the consummation of a $24,000 transaction in the sale of the property known as "The Far East," just on the eastern edge of the city.

The property, which consists of a garage, store and dance hall has been sold by Robert E. Kerr, through this company, to Mr. Waddington. The latter was a resident of New Castle about twenty years ago, and was employed at the old Vulcan Foundry. He went to New Brighton and has been located in the Beaver Valley since. However, the prospects of New Castle's continued steady expansion and business development made its appeal to Mr. Waddington, and he is returning to his former home city.

New Castle citizens are glad to welcome him back, and to extend wishes for success in his business here.

~~ Now an even greater car scoring an even greater success

You know how all the resources of General Motors were used to make the original Pontiac Six the finest car ever introduced into the field of low-priced sixes. You know the wildfire success that resulted.

But do you know that the present day Pontiac—at its new low prices, is a new and finer six—an even greater car that is scoring an even greater success?

It offers the added appeal of new Fisher bodies—longer, lower, roomier and finished in new and striking combinations of enduring Duco.

It embodies important mechanical refinements—tilting-beam headlights with foot control, new transmission and brake levers, oil-tight universal joints and a clutch even smoother in action.

It provides in full measure those basic Pontiac qualities that took all America by storm—those qualities of stamina, economy and long life which were developed by over three years' testing on the great General Motors Proving Ground!

Small wonder that the tide of public preference is turning to the Pontiac Six—as never before to another six in the low-priced field!

That "Kruschen" Feeling

Grandpa Sings in His Bath

Hard things have been said and written of the man who sings in his bath.

But let us not be unduly prejudiced by the fact that he is disturbing our morning rest. Let us attempt to enter into his feelings.

Why does he sing in his bath?

Some people say it's because his instinct moves him to clear his lungs of their overnight "hangover." Stuff and nonsense! He sings out of the pure joy of his heart. He gets up feeling brimful of health and energy, he's glad to be alive, he welcomes the advent of another day of glorious existence, he offers up a song of praise—even though it's only a music-hall song—for having been born into such a wonderful world.

Well, that's something to make a song about, isn't it? You who grumble at his musical efforts—you would make music too if you got up feeling as he feels. And you will feel that way—just bursting with the need of expressing the sheer joy of living—if you take your daily dose of Kruschen Salts.

The Little Dose That Does So Much

It's such a little dose—2 little tablets that dissolve instantly in your tea or coffee. It's such an easy dose—you can't taste it in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea; it's such a cheap dose—it costs only a trifle a day. But it does so much for you. Every day it reminds your liver and kidneys of their duty, and gently stimulates them to performance. It removes all the waste matter that has been clogging the system, purifies and refreshes the blood, makes you tingle in every fibre with new health, new vigor, new joy. And millions of your fellow-beings know that Kruschen gives in joyous abundance just that health and happiness that make the difference between the boredom of existence and the zest of life.

It's the Little Daily Dose that Does It

Tasteless in Tea or Coffee

Drop 2 tablets in your breakfast cup every morning—1 tablet for children. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Kruschen Salts

60 tables for 60 cents at all drug stores. Take two tablets in your morning cup of tea or coffee for a most invigorating daily tonic—it dissolves instantly—and you can't taste it. The medicinal dose for persons suffering from rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica or habitual constipation is four tablets in a tumbler of hot water before breakfast. Kruschen Salts is the biggest selling proprietory medicine in Great Britain and Germany.

Federal Agent In Detroit Held After Fatal Harbor Crash

Allege Prohibition Agent Drove Speedboat That Crushes Launch; Two Are Drowned

(International News Service)

DETROIT, May 14.—Federal Prohibition Agent August Lottner, driver of the border patrol speedboat that ran down a launch in the Detroit river, killing James Lee, 35, Savoy hotel, and his 12-year-old daughter Mildred, was held today by police facing a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

It is believed the victims were instantly killed when the cockpit was crushed.

Statements made to Assistant Prosecutor James E. Chenot by Lottner and Dry Agent James Fitzsimmons do not explain why the officers drove away after the crash, making no attempt to recover the bodies of the father and daughter, and leaving Charles Stringari, another passenger in the launch, struggling in the river with a fractured arm and three broken ribs.

Other witnesses told Chenot the government boat headed straight for the launch, apparently with the intention of ramming it. Lottner disclaims this and told Chenot he was trying to pass the boat's stern.

The harbormaster's crew is still dragging the river for the bodies of Lee and his daughter.

Mr. Leo Hudson, of the firm of Hudson & Myron, was present at the meeting last evening, and he advised that the Borough should install that type of system which he estimated would cost in the neighborhood of $48,000. On motion, the firm of engineers was authorized which will be presented to the Council to prepare the specifications all at their next meeting.

A motion was passed, by a unanimous vote of the Council that the minimum water rate to Grove City consumers be raised from $3.50 to $5.50, per quarter year, and that the change in rate should become effective from the quarter starting May 1, 1927. This increase in the water rate will be used in the payment of the installation of the new system of filtration, and all previous motions made by the Council which conflict with this increase are, by action of the Council, repealed.

New State Motor Code Affects Every Driver; Better Start Perusal

(Special To The News)

HARRISBURG, May 14.—Hundreds of decrepit and worn out passenger vehicles and trucks may disappear from Pennsylvania highways through the enforcement of Section 511 of the new Motor Code, which provides that the Secretary of Highways may "suspend the registration of any vehicle deemed unsafe or unfit to be operated, or not equipped by law." In other words, the Highway Department may refuse registration to a car mechanically unfit. The same section provides that registration may be suspended when unlawful use of any kind is made of a vehicle.

In a statement today, Richard C. Haldeman, president of Pennsylvania Motor Federation, declared that while the really important sections of the code, signed by Governor Fisher this week are those which will bring about uniform traffic regulation through the adoption of the so-called Hoover code, there are other sections with which owners of motor cars should familiarize themselves. The new law becomes effective January 1 next. Included are the following features:

Would-be Purchasers May Use Dealer Tags.

Section 502 of the Code provides that a "prospective purchaser" of a motor vehicle may operate that vehicle under the dealer's license tags when accompanied by a representative of the dealer.

Twenty Days For Transfers.

The present law provides that after the transfer of registration plates from one vehicle to another the owner or operator has ten days in which to procure a proper registration card, provided he has made application for transfer within 48 hours. Under the new law the limit will be 20 days.

Age Limit for School Bus Drivers.

Section 605 of the code makes it unlawful for the driver of any school bus to be under 18 years of age. No person less than 21 years old may operate a motor omnibus.

Renewal of Operator's License.

Under the present law a person who seeks an operator's license must have had a license the preceding year or undergo an examination for his fitness. The new law says he shall have had a driver's license within three years.

Suspension of Drivers' Licenses.

Under the new law the Secretary of Highways is given greater authority in the suspension of operators' licenses. He may suspend or revoke licenses upon the commission of certain offenses; when an operator is incompetent mentally or physically; when an operator is habitually reckless or negligent, or has committed any violations of the motor laws; when an operator has been convicted three times within one year or forfeited bail three times on charges of reckless driving; when a check given the highway department is returned by the bank because of insufficient funds; for manslaughter resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle; when a Pennsylvania operator is convicted of offenses in another state. The code gives the right of appeal from the highway department's decision to the Dauphin county court.

Fathers Liable With Sons.

Owners of motor vehicles who permit persons under 16 years of age to operate the vehicle upon the highway or who knowingly furnishes a vehicle to such minor, is declared jointly liable with the minor for damages caused by the minor. This section will end the practice of certain indulgent fathers and mothers who permit oversized minors to operate machines—or minors of any other description.

Minors May Not be Paid Drivers.

The code makes it unlawful for any person under 18 years of age to be employed to operate a vehicle upon the highway as a paid employe.

Red Lights, No Registration

The Secretary of Highways is empowered to refuse title or registration for any motor vehicle equipped with lighting devices not approved for use in Pennsylvania.

Official Adjusting Stations.

The Highway department is empowered to create official stations at which head-lamps may be adjusted to conform with the provisions of the act. Certificates may be issued by those in charge of the station. If the station is poorly conducted by those giving the privilege the Secretary may revoke the designation.

Brakes.

Under the new code automobile brakes must be mechanically in good working order at all times. No part of the brakes liable to failure shall be common to the two seperate means of applying brakes.

Spark-Plug Whistles Outlawed.

After January 1 next siren, compression of spark-plug whistles will be illegal in Pennsylvania and unnecessary use of horns or other warning devices is prohibited. Exhaust whistles will be found only on police or fire department apparatus, or ambulances, if approved by the Highway Department.

Must Have Rain-Wipers.

It is provided in Section 816 that no motor vehicle operated in Pennsylvania can be without a windshield wiper or device for cleaning rain, snow or other moisture from the windshield.

No More "Red Bathing Girls."

The new law prohibits altogether the placing of signs, posters or any non-transparent material on windshields or in windows of motor vehicles. This section forbids even the transparencies, so-called, used by motor clubs or similar organizations.

Obscene Signs Forbidden.

It is provided in Section 817 that it is unlawful to operate upon the highway any motor vehicle bearing an obscene or vulgar sign or poster of any kind; and the department is the sole judge of the vulgarity or obscenity.

Remove Excess Weight.

Under the provisions of Section 905, designated officers when they discover a vehicle to be overloaded may require the driver of the truck then and there to remove the excess load.

Uniform Traffic.

The extensive provisions of the uniform traffic sections have been reviewed in this newspaper. The speed limit is increased to 35 miles in the open country and 20 miles in built up sections. Boulevards, or arterial highways may be created, into which no vehicle may enter without coming to a full stop.

Coasting on hills is prohibited. All accidents must be reported. The use of automatic stop-and-go signals is outlined and interpreted. Placing of unofficial signs on the highway is prohibited.

Arrest on View.

Sections 1206 and 1207 have to do with the arrest of law violators. These arrests may be "on view." Magistrates may hold the vehicle or other valuables in the possession of offenders or may release the latter upon receipt of his or her "written promise to appear."

Patrolmen Are Police Officers.

Full police authority is conferred upon members of the State Highway Motor Patrol. Heretofore these men have been without authority to arrest. After January 1 next they are declared to be peace officers with authority to arrest on view for violation of the code.

Codification Valuable.

The motor code arranges in order all the rules and regulations governing the registration of vehicles, owners and operators and the operation of motor vehicles. Heretofore the laws were a hodgepodge, difficult to find and hard to interpret.

The Code makes changes in the method of titling and registering motor vehicles. These are unimportant except as they affect Highway department routine.

The garage man told Little Geraldine that there was a loose nut in her car, but she just laughed and laughed because she knew it was only her brother driving around.

ABE MARTIN On Delegates

SPOTTIN' A DELEGATE

Ambrose Moot's own mother wouldn't have known him if she'd seen him start fer Salt Lake City, Utah, this week, where he's t' be delegate at a sugar beet growers' convention, fer bein' a delegate jest seems t' transform a feller's whole appearance. Ther' wuzin' a thing about Ambrose t' suggest a beet grower 'cept his sun burned neck. He'd become a delegate over night, an' ever' vestige, ever earmark o' his callin' or profession had been successfully obliterated. He wuz no longer a hale, jovial, easy goin' beet farmer, but a close mouthed, serious minded delegate, with a new yeller pasteboard suitcase with a sheep's gray sock hangin' out o' one end, a climbin' necktie an' new undersized tan shoes, an' a "full stout" Rochester, New York, suit. Much has been written about th' delegate, but th' top has been barely scratched, an' much remains t' be said. If a delegate would jest hop on a train wearin' his usual makeup, an' act natural, nothin' would be thought of it, but th' minute a feller is elected, or selected, t' be a delegate t' somethin' he seems t' start right in t' figure out ways t' change his appearance an' remodel his manners. Delegates all seem t' take it too seriously. There's a thousan' an' one ways t' spot a delegate. It hain't necessarily his badge that gives him away. Nearly allus his sleeves are too long, an' his hat looks too new, an' sets up too high on his head. His collar is too big, or too tight, an' his necktie looks too "special." The' half burned band on his cigar, an' the' white space on his neck showin' that his hair has been recently undermined, both arouse suspicion, an' stump him at once as a stranger an' a delegate. A delegate's reluctance t' let go of his suitcase till he reaches his hotel room is a never failin' indication that he's a delegate. If we meet a feller lookin' fer a good cheap restaurant he's as sure t' be a delegate as if he'd bought an' orange on th' train. If we see a feller standin' in front of a hotel at 5 o'clock in th' morning' he's undoubtedly a delegate, an' if he's tryin' t' git in a haberdashery before 8 o'clock it's a cinch. A delegate can't git away from th' fact. He's bound t' ask fer a good nickel cigar, or stuff his pockets full o' newspapers, or do somethin' t' tip himself off. Somehow a delegate never has any more luck with shoes than he does with neckties, so if you see a feller on a train with his shoes off, or standin' on one foot like a stork in front of a waffle window, he's a delegate. I don't know whether it's th' importance attached t' bein' a delegate, or whether it's because a delegate hain't spendin' his own money, or what it is that transforms a human bein' th' minute he becomes a delegate, but there's somethin'.

Cox Issues Warning To County Farmers

To the farmers in Pulaski, Mahoning, Wilmington, Neshannock and Union township.

The Federal Corn Borers' Inspectors are now making their second inspection of all corn fields and around buildings.

I find that many farmers are not ready for this inspection.

Some have finished their seeding but have not gathered the stalks good enough to pass the requirements.

Some have collected the stalks but do not have them burned. Others have not completed their seeding.

If the law is strictly adhered to, any one not having their fields and premises cleaned up to pass the inspection at this time may be deprived of the compensation for extra work.

We realize that weather conditions have been unfavorable and that many of the farmers are doing their best to get ready for this inspection and on account of this cooperation I hope that all the farmers in my territory will get all the compensation that they are entitled to and I suggest that they make an effort to have everything cleaned up satisfactory when I call to make the second inspection.

John W. Cox, Inspector for the above named townships.

Union High Senior Class To Present Play May 19-20

"Safety First" To Be Given By School Players During Coming Week

Members of the senior class of Union high will present their class play, "Safety Fjrst" in the high school auditorium, May 19 and 20.

This play is highly recommended to both young and old, and will hold the deep interest of all until the end.

"Safety First," is the story of two unfortunate young men, Jack Montgomery and Jerry Arnold. The former is widely known as Walter Kielar, whose talent for the stage has grown until it has reached a high degree. The part of Jerry Arnold is played very successfully by Lawrence Gibson.

These young men, by doing a good turn, get themselves into a lot of trouble. When they try to "patch it up," with Jack's wife, Jessie Bonnett, who has achieved great fame in "Bashful Mr. Bobbs," and her young sister, Virginia, whose part is played by Catherine Hannon, they "get in deeper."

Thomas Grittie, the well known comedian from Union, steps upon the scene as McNutt, the Defective Detective. He positively does not allow sullen faces around Union, so come prepared for a good time.

Isabelle Wallace is introduced as A Tender Turkish Maiden, and is the cause of all the trouble and excitement continuing thru out the play. She plays her part very skillfully.

Elmer Flannel, who is decidedly shrinking, is recognized as Daniel Weyrick. Dan has just made his debut upon the stage.

Charles Llewllyn, known in the play as Abou Ben Mocha, the Terrible Turk from Turkey, plays his part true to life.

Mary Ann O'Finnerty, the Irish Cook Lady is characterized by Clela Fleming, in a truly Irish spirit.

Mrs. Barrington-Bridger, the dear, dignified old lady, and mama of the girls, is none other than Emma Patton, who plays her part to perfection.

ANNA EVA FAY, NOTED MYSTIC, DIES IN BOSTON

Famous Mind Reader Was Born In Trumbull County, Ohio

BOSTON, May 14.—Anna May Fay, who for almost 50 years was the theatrical world's foremost mystic, mind reader and marvel worker, died Friday, at her home in Melrose Highlands.

In private life she was Mrs. David H. Pingree. Her husband, formerly her manager, and two sisters survive. She will be buried in the Wyoming, (Mass.) mausoleum, which she had built for the body of her only son, who died in 1908.

Anna Eva Fay was born in Southington, Trumbull county, O. She went on the stage as a very young woman, devoting herself from the beginning of her career, to theosophy and mysticism.

To the day of her death Anna Eva Fay maintained that her powers were inexplicable, even to herself. She kept her secret, if secret there was.

Her last public appearance was at Milwaukee three years ago. She was injured slightly in an accident and retired.

Miss Fay's Melrose home, one of the city's most imposing mansions, is a museum of trophies and curios she accumulated in the United States, Europe and Asia.

She had gifts and medals which were presented to her by royalty as well as many tokens.

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., May 14—Twenty school children here today were nursing bruises and lacerations suffered when the roof of a dugout at the Bethlehem Steel Co. baseball field collapsed beneath their weight while they were watching a school fete.

The children were plunged into the dug out but none suffered serious injury.

Health Days Held In Rural Schools

MERCER, Pa., May 14.—Health Days are being held in the rural schools of Mercer County as well as the towns.

The programs arranged by the smaller schools consists as its chief item in having present with them Dr. S. J. Dickey the county Medical examiner who in the smaller towns may make examinations of all the pupils in one day. The mothers also with children of preschool age are invited to be present and have them examined.

Dr. Wyrtte of Millbrook is also assisting in holding these programs arranged by Mrs. W. G. Smith, state nurse, the two ladies making an examination of the children.

Such programs were held at Millbrook, Wednesday, Maysville on Thursday and Pleasant Ridge on Saturday.

Of the towns yet to hold programs in are Greenville, Grove City, Farrell, Stoneboro and Sandy Lake.

The health of the 30,000 school children in this county never will be as well known to their parents and teachers as following these health day events along the examinations during the year. If medical attention in childhood making corrections means anything it will mean for Mercer County a sturdy race of men and women as the coming generation.

Miss McClelland was the winner of the match and her victory entitles her to play in the finals Tuesday evening. Scores were: first set, 6 to 1; second set, 6 to 4, favoring Miss McClelland.

Monday evening at seven o'clock Mrs. Eileen Stone will meet Mrs. DeLillo, outdoor and indoor tennis champions, respectively of last year at the Y. W. The fact need not be emphasized that this match will be a mighty good one.

Many Foreigners Will Compete For Big Prize For Dirigible Designs

Dirigible Builders In Contest For Prize Award Of $50,000.

Will Take Two Years To Build Huge New Airship Experts Say.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 14. — Foreign airship builders will compete with Americans for the $50,000 prize offered to the successful designer of the huge new dirigible to be built for the navy, it was learned today.

"I understand that both German and Dutch designers will submit plans, and it is probable that other foreigners will enter the competition," said C. P. Burgess, the navy's civilian expert in airship design.

No prejudice will be shown to foreign designers, it was indicated by naval officers, although the congressional act authorizing the airship requires that it be built in the United States.

Because the airship—two and a half times as large as the Los Angeles in cubic feet capacity—will be the greatest ever built, the navy offered a large prize to bring the best brains of the world to its aid.

All designs must be forwarded to the Navy Department by next Monday midnight. The special board of which Rear-Admiral Moffett, Chief of the Air Service, will be senior member, will convene on May 20 to discuss plans. Award will be made July 1 and it is expected that work on the dirigible will get under way by December. Two years will be required to build it naval officers estimated.

Woman's Club To Aid Flood Fund

Art Exhibit Is To Be Means Of Adding To Red Cross Fund

As a further contribution to the Red Cross plans for the flood sufferers, the Woman's Club is sponsoring all next week an exhibit of paintings under the charge of Pascal M. Gatterdam, a dealer of New York City. These paintings are by modern artists, and some in the exhibit will be loaned from private collections in the city.

The exhibit will open on Tuesday night in the candidates' room of the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Catalogues will be printed and Mr. Gatterdam will be present to answer any questions.

The exhibit will be open to students of the Art Department in the public schools on Wednesday afternoon after school.

Thursday evening will be set aside for members of the Woman's Club and their husbands.

Mrs. H. M. Kirk, President of the Club, is providing hostesses for every afternoon and evening.

This exhibit is open to the public free of charge both afternoon and evening.

WIDOWED MOTHER OF SIX CHILDREN SHOOTS INTRUDER

ERIE, Pa., May 14.—Defending her home against an unwelcome intruder early today, Mrs. Manda Anunta, widowed mother of six children, fired two shots at Bernadino Bonamino, 39, when he broke into her home.

Bonamino is in the Rose Memorial Hospital with a bullet wound in the chest. His condition is serious.

Bonamino, according to police, had been forcing attention on the widow. Late last night he went to her house, and when she refused to admit him he broke a window and forced his way in.

A special feature of the morning session was five minute talks on "What Can I Do to Advance Temperance." "As a Citizen," by Mrs. Stevenson; "As a Parent," Mrs. McCracken; "As a Teacher," Mrs. Kildoo; "As an American," Mrs. Flack. A paper on "Legislation" was read by Mrs. Black.

Special music numbers during the morning were given by Miss Effie Wimer, Miss Marguerite Ritenour, Mrs. Martha Baker and Miss Marjorie McClelland.

Features of this session were short talks given by the County officers who were present, Mrs. Ida May Allison and Mrs. J. B. McClaren. A talk by Mr. Peebles on "Prohibition as a Party Issue," was well received. Mrs. Ada Offutt read an interesting paper on "The Ideal Home," and Mrs. Copper told of "Medical Temperance." Readings entitled "Unawares" by Mrs. Alice Palmer and "Bewildered America," by Mrs. J. A. Young were given.

Musical numbers by Mrs. A. Y. McConahy, Dorothy Harlan, Irene Wallace and a reading by Caroline Moore were well received.

The entire institute was one of the best ever given by these four Unions.

Foster's Weather Prognostication

WASHINGTON, May 14.—A storm wave of moderate intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on May 13; this storm center will occur during period of above normal temperatures that is expected to be general over the continent but of short duration, covering the average storm period of three and one-half days. Following storm center of May 13, a general drop in average temperatures is expected to take place and predominate a ten day period, causing temperatures, May 15 to 25 to average considerable below normal. This cool period threatens central and northern winter grain sections with light to killing frosts as cool waves centering on 17 and 21 move across country, occurring at a time when considerable winter grain will probably be in the critical bloom stage, considerable damage will probably result. A storm wave of severe intensity is expected to cross continent during week centering on May 17; this storm center will occur during a wave of below normal temperatures and will be expected to cause the lowest temperatures extremes of the month relative to local normal temperatures. Storm force will increase during last half of May, becoming severe near 17 and 22; precipitation will average above normal 17 to 27; heaviest precipitation during this period will occur in eastern great central valleys and northern Pacific slope sections; heavier in central and southern than in northern great central valleys. As the earth nears opposition with Saturn, which opposition occurs May 27, severe storms will cease, temperatures will return to above normal and balmy, summer weather will prevail for a considerable period.

Astrology vs Planetary-Meteorology

Many newspaper-feature articles make little or no difference between astrology and planetary-meteorology, the latter of which is the basis of all Foster theories, investigations and forecasts. Astrology has many points of merit; its chief points of merit are those originated thousands of years ago, when astrology was the science of the day and present day astronomy unknown, excepting that part used by those astrologers. Many points in present day astrology are the remnants of a lost science. Present day astrologers use these points, add such theories as their convictions dictate, but know not the complete ancient thesis nor the theories responsible for its rules.

Planetary-meteorology, as we have named the Foster brand of natural phenomena that we believe controls our weather, deals with positions and movements of the bodies of our solar system effecting the flow of force between those bodies; the effect being determined mathmatically from past periods when a similar condition prevailed. Present day astrology credits each planet and position with certain empiracle influence, good or bad, wet or dry, hot or cold, peace or war, panic or prosperity, etc.

There is little or no relation between present day astrology and planetary-meteorology on which my forecasts are based.

Don't feel depressed. Any fool can get up a list of questions to puzzle the wisest of men.

NASH
Leads the World in Motor Car Value

NASH has the power you need on the HILLS

Every Nash owner notices that he has very little gear shifting to do on hills, no matter how steep the grades may be.

Nash is a very powerful motor car. There is nothing half-hearted or sluggish about its response—the motor never "talks back" at you—even though you are climbing mountains.

One reason is the more than adequate power designed into every Nash motor car. Nash engineering has provided reserve energy for situations that tax the resources of other cars, and extend their engines to the point of strain.

Another reason for the powerful performance of Nash is 7 bearings. 7 bearings in every Nash model, instead of 3 or 4, means that power is not thrown away by crankshaft "whip." Proper bearing support conserves energy that older motor types waste.

Quick acceleration — powerful responsiveness—such as Nash provides, is a safety factor you cannot overlook. It is invaluable on the hills, very handy in traffic.

When you select your next car, be sure to see how unfavorably the power and pick-up of other cars compare to Nash, before you decide! There are 26 models priced from $865 to $2090 f. o. b. factory.

Lindbergh Feels Confident In Hop Across Atlantic

"Lone Flier" To Attempt To Beat Opponents In Flight To Paris.

TOOTHBRUSH-COMB ONLY BAGGAGE

(International News Service)

MINEOLA, N. Y., May 14—As casually as if he were planning a week-end trip to Atlantic City, Captain Charles Lindbergh, "The Kid Flier," "The Flyin' Fool," sauntered on Friday from the Garden City Hotel to Curtiss Field, and greeted the men whom he intends to defeat in a race to Paris.

In his pocket was a tooth brush and comb—his total personal baggage. He refused to concede anything extraordinary in his accomplishments or his plans.

Soft spoken and extremely boyish, Captain Lindbergh repeatedly deprecated the feat he is about to undertake, and said:

"I'm not making much fuss about preparations.

"The flight from San Diego to St. Louis amounted to more than the Trans-Atlantic trip. If a plane comes down in the mountains, who's going to pick it up? At sea there is a fairer chance of sighting a ship."

The "Kid's" plane, "The spirit of St. Louis," carries no radio apparatus.

He dispenses with sextants and and all other navagation instruments, and plans his course by "dead reckoning," or compass readings.

He has a habit of flying alone, and on two occasions has been forced to jump for his life with a parachute when he was the only occupant of his plane.

Charge Son With Killing Mother

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 14.—Pennsylvania and New Jersey police are searching today for Raymond Bergman, 27, charged with the murder of his mother, Mrs. Freida Bergman, 62, late yesterday.

The woman's body, bullets through the heart and head, was found on the second floor of her home by Mrs. Anna Bergman, wife of the missing man.

Police found a note alleged to have been written by Bergman. "I am sorry I did it. She nagged me. I think I am going mad. Raymond Bergman."

Police say mother and son quarreled over the date set for the family to move to a cottage near Runnymeade, N. J., which Bergman had recently purchased.

Does he sneer much? Ah, well; he has been important only a short time, and is afraid you won't notice how he's developed.

Public Still Fearful In Air, Aeronautics, Official Finds

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News

WASHINGTON, May 14.—'Way back in the days when folks were laughing over the first edition of Joe Miller's Joke Book this story was a mouldy old chestnut:

"An aged darky was explaining why, though undaunted by the perils of railroad travel, he drew the line on water transportation.

"It had been pointed out to him that it hurt no worse to be drowned at sea than to be ground up ashore, and that the number of fatalities by the alternative methods didn't differ widely, if any.

"The venerable Ethiopian couldn't see it.

"'Kuh-smash goes yo' train,' he said, 'an' thah yo' is. Down goes yo' boat, an' whah is you'?"

• • •

An ancient chestnut!

Yet, according to the reasoning of William P. MacCracken, Jr., assistant secretary of commerce in charge of aeronautics, that old darky's frame of mind parallels the frame of mind of people who never turn a hair at the idea of careening over the landscape in a recklessly-run automobile, but blench at the thought of going up in a nice, safe plane, with a careful pilot in charge.

The darky didn't want to be mangled in a railroad wreck, but if it happened he could stand it. A landlubber, drowning seemed to him like a strange, terrible kind of death, which he shuddered at.

An autoist's attuned to the dangers of the streets and highways. They don't perturb him. Aviation dangers are new to his mental processes. They give him the shivers.

• • •

Assistant Secretary of Commerce MacCracken can't remember a time when automobiles weren't pretty numerous but occasionally he meets some elderly individual who's still more or less leery of them.

He calculates that there must have been a stage of the game when they were quite generally regarded as safest to keep out of.

Just so with airplanes?

MacCracken reckons so. He's aware that many persons are still afraid of aviation, though a goodly number who were afraid of it originally have outgrown their earlier nervousness now.

The aeronautics secretary believes the coming generation will regard flying as indifferently as the present one regards the auto.

• • •

MacCracken had a chance to try out this theory recently, at on aviation show given by the commerce departments in Washington.

Free rides were an important feature of the occasion.

The department's trying to popularize flying, and the officials view was that folk who took sufficient interest in it, and had the nerve to go aloft, ought to be encouraged. So they weren't stingy about it.

But what attracted their attention was that the clamorous ones were nearly all very young—mere children.

• • •

The oldsters hung back. With a few exceptions, they weren't at all willing to leave terra firma even in response to cordial invitation. When they did accept, they gritted their teeth, and gave every indication of feeling that they were committing themselves to a desperate venture.

Little boys and girls climbed aboard and soared into the heavens as indifferently as the average citizen takes a street car.

"A new psychology!" is Secretary MacCracken's diagnosis.

• • •

MacCracken does, indeed, expect to see aviation develop and expand with the mechanical improvement of planes and the extension of flying facilities.

He expects still more, however, from an air-minded generation, now in its infancy.

ALLEGED GANGSTER PLACED ON TRIAL FOR MURDER OF VET

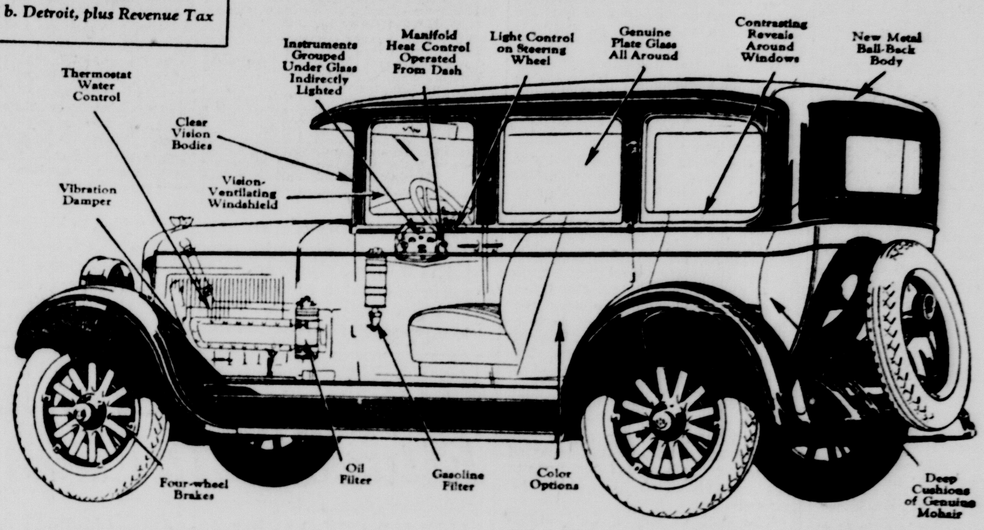

STEUBENVILLE, O., May 14.—Police, physicians and nurses were the first witnesses for the state in the trial of James Trepod, 28, alleged gang leader, charged with first degree murder for the slaying of Dominic Spinetti, World War veteran, here. Judge J. A. Paisley ordered night sessions in the hope of completing the trial this week.

Chief of Police Ross Cunningham, principal witness for the prosecution, testified as to a death bed statement by Spinetti accusing Trepod of the shooting. The defense in its opening statement announced that Trepod was not at Spinetti's place at the time of the shooting, and that Spinetti, who had been wounded in the spine, did not know what he was saying when he made his death bed accusation.

Hospital Board Tells Of State Appropriation

Patients Admitted To Hospital Who Are Unable To Pay Can Draw On Fund.

State Appropriation Is Based On Number Of Charity Cases Taken In.

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., May 14. —In the following article the Board of Directors of the Ellwood City Hospital explain fully just how and why the institution receives a certain amount annually from the State:

How State Aid Is Received

"Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same that the sum of four million dollars ($4,000,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary and the same hereby specifically appropriated to pay for the treatment of the indigent sick or injured in medical and surgical hospital now owned by the Commonwealth for and during the two years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five and ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven payments to be made at the rate of three dollars ($3) per diem for the medical and surgical treatment rendered to and maintenance of each person treated in said hospitals who is entitled to free service and for each day of part pay service proportion of the aforesaid three dollars ($3) per diem rate as the part of the regular ward charges which the person treated is not able to pay bears to the regular ward charge for such free service Provided however That no hospital shall receive compensation at a rate exceeding the actual cost of service per capita in the public ward of said hospital.

The said appropriation shall be paid on warrant of the Auditor General on the basis of settlement by that officer and the State Treasurer but no warrant shall be drawn or settlement made until the directors or managers of the several medical and surgical hospitals shall have made on oath or affirmation to the Auditor General a quarterly report setting forth the names of the indigent sick or injured persons received and treated in said hospitals for the sick and injured respectively during the quarter for which the report is made with the date of their admission and discharge or death respectively and the actual time which each of said indigent sick or injured persons was treated during said quarter Provided also That no payments shall be made on account of the treatment of said indigent sick or injured persons until the Secretary of Welfare shall have certified to the Auditor General that the quarterly report setting forth the names of said indigent sick or injured persons contains no name other than that of patients entitled to receive care and treatment at the expense in full or in part of the State and further provided that not more than one-eighth of the sum hereby appropriated shall be paid out in any one quarter and that no hospital shall during any one year receive more than seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000)."

From the foregoing it will be noted that the State pays only for free work.

Patients who are admitted to the hospital and are unable to pay the charges are requested to fill out a State Credit card. This card is referred by the Superintendent to the Credit Committee of the Board of Directors and if they deem the patient worthy they instruct the Superintendent to enter the patient either as free or part pay.

At the close of each quarter a representative from the Welfare Dept. visits the hospital and goes over the credit cards, accepting such as they deem worthy. Following the representative from the Welfare Dept., an auditor from the Auditor Generals Department visits the hospital and audits the books for the quarter and also goes over the credit cards, accepting such as he deems worthy and makes his report to the Auditor General. The Auditors report being approved by the Auditor General the State Treasurer then pays the Hospital $3.00 a day, providing the costs are over $3.00 a day, for all or part pay patients they have accepted, deducting the amount the hospital has received from the part pay patients.

The cost of caring for patients being more than $3.00 per day, part of the burden for caring for such patients is thrown back on the hospital to be borne by the community.

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., May 14.—The small daughter of Mrs. Margaret Heashey, aged about four, was missing yesterday afternoon from one o'clock until early evening when she was finally found by Miss Dorothy Bentrim near her home. The child's disappearance was first noticed about two o'clock, when her mother, who had been under the impression that she was in an upstairs room, found that she was no where to be seen.

Friends and neighbors joined the search, until the child's father came home, and he then notified the police. A thorough search of the town was made and the child was finally discovered near a truck in the vicinity of her home. It seems that the driver had taken the little girl for a ride and the truck had broken down quite far from home, and he was just driving back when the child was discovered.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 14.—In Ellwood City there are about 100 girls between the ages of 10-16 who are bonded together by their Girl Scout Promise and Laws. To be a real Girl Scout means that a girl must have high ideals and that she must live up to a standard that sets her apart from and above the average girl of the times. Every girl Scout makes the following promise when she joins a troop:—"On my honor, I will try to do my duty to God and my country. To help other people at all times. To obey the Scout laws."

The Girl Scout laws are:—

(1) A Girl Scout's honor is to be trusted.

(4) A Girl Scout is a friend to all and a sister to every other Girl Scout.
(5) A Girl Scout is courteous.
(6) A Girl Scout is a friend to animals.
(7) A Girl Scout obeys orders.
(8) A Girl Scout is Cheerful.
(9) A Girl Scout is thrifty.
(10) A Girl Scout is clean in thought, word and deed.

Ellwood City has four Girl Scout Troop with eleven officers in charge Bernice Wilson Troop:—

Capt. Mrs. H. E. King.

These troops meet weekly in the school buildings where the regular form for Girl Scout meetings is followed. The girls progress in rank from Tenderfoot to Second Class to First Class Scout as they are able to complete certain prescribed work. The local troops have quite a number of Second Class Scouts but have not yet been established long enough to have any First Class Scouts.

On May 19th there will be a Girl Scout Mothers and Daughters Banquet at which many of the girls will receive their merit badges, 2nd Class badges and Tenderfoot pins. Captain Harrison and Regional Director Loeffler of Wheeling, W. Va., will be the honor guests.

The general direction of the work is in the hands of a local council made up of twelve representative women of the community. The personnel of the council is as follows: Commissioner—Mrs. J. H. Hough; 1st Deputy Commissioner—Mrs. H. R. Johnson; 2nd. Deputy Commissioner—Mrs. W. W. Golden; Secretary—Miss Carrie E. Hazen; Treasurer—Mrs. M. A. Groden; Mrs. Harry Caplan, Mrs. Catherine Charles, Miss Mary King, Mrs. A. F. G. Paetzal, Mrs. W. E. Renner, Miss Mary Rhoades and Mrs. Ben Swick.

The council meets monthly and acts as clearing house for all plans for the work. The council has used the money already given by the Community Chest to procure training for the leaders, secure needed equipment and has plans already made to provide at least one week of camping under a trained Girl Scout leader.

Each troop has a sponsoring organization who has already shown much interest. The Bernice Wilson Troop is sponsored by the Woman's Club. The Nightingale Troop by the Doremus Club of the Baptist church, the Bob-o-Link Troop by the Quota Club and the Ewing Park Troop by the Jewish Hadassah.

CREDIT

Your Best Friend Your Worst Enemy

Your credit is one, if not the biggest, asset or liability in anyone's life. If treated slowly and carelessly, it can wreck a home, ruin a man's life, lower him in the estimation of his fellow-men and completely ruin his standing in his community.

On the other hand, if one's credit is treated as the greatest asset, obligations taken care of in a prompt manner, and your word cherished above all else, your credit will go more than half way to make you a success, an ideal companion and a blessing to the community. It is all up to the individual. Let us watch our credit closely and thereby make our lives worth while.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

A "Foxey" Hunter

Right then and there Weasel made up his mind that the Two-Legs was not worth another moment of his time, and with no further farewell than a last scornful look, off he trotted, shaking his head as he went. He, too, made a bee-line for the Great Woods, but he traveled South, while the Chipmunks fled to the North. When he saw this, Peter was glad, for now he knew that the little Red Elf and his family were safe.

"Well, well, Two-Legs, unless I very much miss my guess, you are not sorry to see the last of him!" said a voice near by, and the Boy turned to see a red head poking cautiously around the corner of the rock, and in a moment the red head was followed by a tawny body and a bushy tail.

There was no mistaking who the newcomer was—the Boy had known the moment he caught sight of the white spot on the end of his bushy tail.

"Hello, Fox!" said he. "I am glad you are here, for ever since I have known you were so near I have hoped to have a chance to talk to you. But I am surprised to hear you speak that way of Weasel. You are a hunter yourself, aren't you?"

"You just bet I am!" declared Fox, stretching his mouth in a smile that showed his gleaming white teeth. "I wouldn't have folks think anything else, but there are different ways of hunting, you know, Boy. And I am the most polite fellow in the world, even when I am out for game. No fuss, no outcry, no striking terror into the hearts of my prey, as Weasel does. When I go a-gaming I go like this!"

Crouching, Fox crept along the ground and even the Boy, who was standing close to him, could not hear a sound—his soft, padded paws seemed to glide along the earth.

"Then I pick out a hiding place (Fox crept cautously behind the rock) and there I lay just as still as still can be until my victim has his head turned the other way and there is nobody looking. Then slowly, softly, I gather my body together; I leap, I am upon my prey. 'Click,' go my strong teeth. I have him in my grasp, like this!"

"Gee, whiz!" In spite of himself the Boy gave a startled cry for with a bound that carried him several feet from the ground, Fox shot past him and landed as lightly as a feather, his jaws closing with a snap that made the Boy glad he was a friend and not a foe of the creature's.

EIGHTEEN HORSES AT BARRIER IN KENTUCKY DERBY

Huge Throng To Witness Classic

Fifty-Third Annual Derby Race Draws Eighteen Of Country's Best Runners.

NO FAVORITE IN SIGHT, SAY EXPERTS

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 14.—The top sergeant stands with watch in hand, noting the minutes, the seconds, and ever and anon he glances along the line to see that all is well. The starter watches the field with the eye of a Basilisk and notes everything, not exclusive of the fact that Saxon is acting up, as usual; that Rip Rap won't face the webbing, that horses in general are a contrary contraption.

And ever and anon, as he glances along the line he sees the horse that wants to go and the horse that would rather not have been there in the first place, and somehow must get them off. It is the zero hour and somehow the Kentucky derby of a mile and a quarter.

That's it; the zero hour. And it will come this afternoon along about 5 o'clock when some 18 of the ranking thoroughbreds the country over will dapple their way to the post in the 53rd running of the Derby. This, as said, is the 53rd running, but derbies are derbies and the 1927 model is a felt hat.

No Favorite.

For once there is no outstanding candidate. One man likes Rip Rap; another cares dearly for Osman, a third wants to sell you on Rolled Stocking. But the final test is the composite ballot and that shows that the general sentiment is for the Whitney entry.

The writer's opinion which may be important in case that mucilage is palatable, is that Bostonian, winner of the Preakness, will repeat here, equalling the record of Sir Barton, the only horse to win both classics. For one reason, the track today figures to be heavier than the average conscience; for another, Bostonian can and will run a distance.

So much experting, which as usual will pay off exactly ten cents on the dollar, provided you have the dollar. The expert never starts unless you have the dollar.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of 75,000 holding a dollar to the individual fist, will mill around in the confines of Churchill Downs for the privilege of saying: "I was was there." This is very important particularly in the billiard rooms at Ft. Wayne, Ind., during the summer season.

Presbyterians Top Baptists 7 To 2

Central Presbyterians Remain Tied With Christians For First Place

Johnny Melder pitched a fine brand of baseball last night on the Lehigh field, with the Central Presbyterian team taking their second victory of the year in the New Castle church loop. The final score was 7 to 2.

The Presbyterians found the delivery of Dean to their liking and hammered out 11 hits. Bunched hits in the third inning gave the Presbyterians four tallies. Melder showed his effectiveness in the fourth inning with runners on second and third, when he fanned the next three batters to face him. Melder had eight strikeouts to his credit. Dean fanned six batters.

Heavy hitting by Bush, Wilson, Battley and Melder brought victory to the Presbyterians. Reed was the best hitter for the losers.

The Baptists turned in six errors, while the Presbyterians had two misplays.

NO BOSTON TEA-PARTY — BY FEG MURRAY

Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for two Grade B heavyweights to fight for the right to meet the champion of the world, who himself is no James J. Jeffries, it necessarily reflects no little bit upon the quality of the present day gladiators. Too bad that there is no real way of comparing the Sullivan, the Corbett, the Jeffries, and Johnson with the fighters of today, and have these endless arguments settled. I, for one, while admitting that Gene Tunney is greatly underrated by the average fight fan, would be forced to cast my vote for the champions of the past.

But to get down to the business at hand, which is the forthcoming meeting between Jimmy Maloney, the Irishman, and Jack Sharkey, the Lithuanian, both of Boston, for the possible right to meet J. J. Tunney for the championship of the world next September. Get out the scales and we'll see upon which side are the weightiest arguments.

On Sharkey's side, place the fact that he is faster on his feet, and add to that that he is a quicker thinker. Place the weighty statements that Mr. Cuccosky is more aggressive when the occasion demands, that he has a better left hand, and is a more skillful counterer. On Maloney's side, place the arguments that Jim is about ten or twelve pounds heavier, that he is a harder hitter with his right, and has more knockouts to his credit than has his rival.

In Sharkey's favor, add his victories over Harry Wills and Mike McTigue, and on Maloney's side, the victories over Jack Delaney and Harry Persson. And when you add to Sharkey's scale his two victories over Maloney, to one victory over Jack for Jim's side, it appears that the balance shows a distinct list in favor of the Lithuanian.

But unfortunately, fights very seldom go the way they are doped.

Police And Garbage Men To Aid Flood Sufferers

Bluecoats Will Play Baseball Here To Raise Money.

Phillips' Colored Team Hopeful And Expect To Beat Police.

By ED. FRITZ

There never was and never will be a Sports Editor who had any especial love for a policeman. The Sporting Editor believes in Fair Play and the policeman believes in foul play for, life minus foul play, would soon rid cities of police.

Today we got a tip through the grapevine circuit that unless we appeared voluntarily at the Police station, otherwise known as Gazabo's Row or Dysart's camp, we'd be jailed without chance to post a bail piece.

Having seen hundreds locked up without being given a reason and docketed as "suspicious" we meandered into the "orfis" of Sergeant (get that folks) Jim Steiner and was surrounded by half the police force.

Carry Weapons

Some had guns; others had clubs. One of them had a black eye and one had the same kind of a look that betrays a lion's feeling just as he is about to pounce upon a trainer.

They waved tickets galore, hurled arguments aplenty and multiplied these by reasons why they should be given space in the New Castle News sports section, beginning Saturday and ending next Friday.

After the smoke cleared away and Mrs. Minnie McKibben had calmed the assemblage we decided that the aggregation was trying to tell us they had a ball team and intended to do something worth while.

Realizing that the occasion they plan is something out of the ordinary for policemen we intend to chronicle what they propose doing. They propose to play baseball against the department of garbage, next Friday, to raise money for Flood relief.

Here's The 'Hopes'

According to our way of thinking the police have a team of hopes with a line-up as follows: Augostine, c. f.; Samuels, 3b; James, 2b; Thompson, c; Harper, l. f.; Flinner, r. f.; Allgier, f. b.; Dukes, s. s. and Jimmie Steiner, pitcher. Substitutes Golis, Lewellyn, Letera.

They're not of the circus type policemen, that is they'll not need a uniform as large as the "big top" to house their frame. They're an aggregation of sheik-appearing bluecoats when they're dolled up and it would be worth any man or woman's 25 cents to see what some of the city policemen look like off duty.

May Stage Coup

But the Garbage department! Listen folks: Superintendent Howard Phillips has that colored hurling ace Johnny Waters, and inasmuch as Dude Moore and Jimmie Wisener are not in the line-up and other police say all colored boys look alike, Howard may run half a dozen of the Homestead Grays in against the Policeman.

Midnight may get into the game also as Phillips plans to start him on the extra shift today. Plans had been made by some of the cops to lock up some of the garbage department boys on the day of the contest but Mayor Dunlap put a stop to this plan and also announced that the police famous habit of flashing their "tin" and gaining free entrance into movies and peanut wagons would not be allowed at the ball park. "Every policemen, even those who play has to pay his own admission. There will be no dead list at the park," said the mayor.

Teams Have Ability

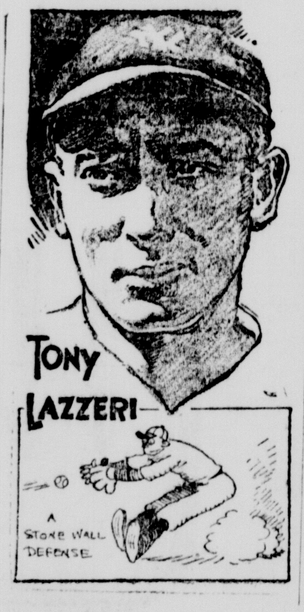

While there will be all kinds of comedy stunts staged at the field the fact remains that the two teams can play ball. The police have a good looking outfit. Several of the men played on bang-up teams before they got on the police force which goes to explain one of the reasons why they can use a mace so good while the Garbage men have been scooping up cans so long they'll have no trouble finding the ball Friday afternoon.

The writer has bought his ticket. Tonight the police will start selling the ducats to everybody they can catch. When a person purchases a pasteboard that doesn't mean he should not attend the game. It means he should be there to enjoy a good game.

How easy to triumph over filth if those leading the fight are manly instead of prissy.

Westminster Track Team Beaten By Tech

United Presbyterian School Takes Six First Places In Plaid Meet.

Hartwell, Bucher, And Rose Show Up Well For Westminster.

(Special To The News)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 14. — Carnegie Tech's track squad downed Westminster here yesterday afternoon in the Tech Bowl by a score of 86 to 49 points, but the Tech team didn't have a walkaway by any means or transportation.

The United Presbyterian team from New Wilmington, Pa., fought the Plaid cinder stars like fury in every event with the exception of one, and except for the very many men along they might have walloped the Tech boys.

The 440 yard dash proved the downfall of the visitors. Three Tech runners chased themselves over the finish line before any of the Westminster entries made their appearance.

Bucher and Hartwell Star.

Harrison Bucher of Westminster carried off high individual scoring honors with one first and two second places for a total of 11 points. "Billy" Hartwell of the Westminster team was second high scorer with two firsts. Hartwell showed a fine pair of heels to the aspirants in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, and finished well in front of Milne the star Tech sprinter. Captain Wilt of Westminster finished third in both sprints.

Wesley Rose the former New Castle High star miler won over Campbell of Tech in the mile gallop. McNair of Tech finished third, and there were plenty of boys behind him. William "Billy" Thomas captured the broad jump for Westminster with a leap of 20 feet 3½ inches. Thomas attributes the fact that he is a track winner by claiming Farrell, Pa., as his home town.

Delahunti of Westminster had to be contented with a triple tie for first place in the pole vault. The boys all went over the bar at 10 feet 2 inches.

Bucher the premier weight man for the visitors captured the javelin throw with a heave of 144 feet 6 inches, with Lovewell of Tech second, and Montgomery of Westminster third.

Hutchinson of Westminster proved to be the best discus tosser on the lot, and won handily in this event with a heave of 111 feet, Tech men finished second and third.

The hammer throw, high jump, shot put, two-mile, 440, 880, and both the hurdles events went to the Tech artists.

As far as competition was concerned the meet staged here yesterday afternoon was one of the best of the year and it was thoroughly enjoyed by several hundred spectators. There was not one casualty reported among the crowd from heart failure or flutter.

The results of the meet:

Cardinals Trim Giants 11 to 1

Sherdel Holds Giant Hitters At Bay As Mates Hammer Out Victory.

DODGERS AGAIN DOWN CINCINNATI

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, May 14.—After going hitless in his last 36 times at bat, Al Tyson of the New York Giants has bolstered his dwindling batting average by collecting four consecutive singles in the final game of the Giant-Cardinal series. Tyson saved his job, but failed to help the Giants, who were massacred by a score of 11 to 1 and now lead the Red Birds by only one game.

The Giants couldn't touch Wee Willie Sherdel, and went to pieces in the field like a third-hand automobile, making five bobbles. Aroused by the sting of two defeats, the Cards knocked Fitzsimmons silly and scored seven runs in the first inning. Don Songer, obtained from Pittsburgh, made his debut in a New York uniform and twirled five scoreless innings.

Trailing Cincinnati by four runs, the Brooklyn Dodgers staged a rousing five-run rally in the eighth and won, 5 to 4. The Dodgers have won nine of their last 12 contests, while the Reds have lost more games than the Boston Red Sox. As far as their pennant chances are concerned, the Porkville boys might just as well engage passage on that rocket which is to be sent to the moon from Worcester, Mass., in the near future.

Lundgren Wins Again

Hoyt shaded Wingard in a pitchers' battle as the Yankees downed the Browns for the fourth straight time, 3 to 1. The Yanks increased their lead as the White Sox were idle.

Lundgren, Red rookie, may prove to be the Moses needed to lead the back bay boys out of the wilderness. After beating Detroit last week in his first start, he whitewashed Cleveland, 7 to 0 yesterday, holding the Indians to three hits and five fouls.

Another three-hit performance was turned in by Hub Pruett as the Phillies trimmed the Cubs, 4 to 1, and tied the Pirates for third place. The game was a home run orgy. Old Cy Williams contributed his sixth homer of the season, Jimmy Wilson also hit for the circuit and Fred Leach broke up the game with a homer in the eighth inning. A homer by Kaufmann of the Cubs stretched Chicago's home run record to 11 consecutive games.

Ty Cobb hit safely in his 17th consecutive game as the Athletics routed the Tigers, 10 to 3.

The Senators, White Sox, Pirates and Braves did not play.

SORDS POINTS

The Boys Who Laugh At Traffic Cops Are Busy

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Having recently been shoved over to the curb by an original motorcycle officer who opened up the evening's conversation with the unique query, "What's the big idea?" I'm inclined to string with the auto racing drivers who confine their speeding to the race track. That's the only place left that isn't dotted with traffic cops and stop lights—outside the Atlantic ocean lanes.

Judging from the lineup in traffic court the other day and the published entry list of the annual Memorial Day 500-mile race at Indianapolis this is a big year in the speed game.

Recent dispatches state that 41 cars have been entered in the ...sier classic this year—the big... entry list since 1919. Likewise the number of foreign entries is unusually large.

Frank Lockhart, the man who went into last year's classic as a substitute driver and emerged the winner in the rain-shortened event, is entered. He's going to drive the same car he shoved over the track at 171 an hour.

Peter De Paolo, the nephew of Ralph De Palma and the winning driver of 1925, hopes to announce his return to "luck" by winning the event. De Paolo, after winning the 1925 championship on total points, had an off year in 1926. He now blames his poor showing in his effort to the fact that he tried to develop two cars.

The recent announcement that Tommy Milton, twice winner of the Indianapolis event, had entered a car caused the belief momentarily that he would re-enter the game as a driver after a lapse of two years but Milton has set this rumor to rest. However, Earl Cooper, another veteran driver now engaged in building cars, will drive one of the cars he has entered. Bob McDonogh and Peter Kreis will pilot the others from the Cooper benches.

Harry Hartz, biggest point and money winner last year, Leon Duray, Cliff Durant, who probably will drive Milton's entry, Frank Elliott and George Fernic are among the noted drivers entered. The latter, a Roumanian comes with a French car, a Bugatti, adding one more nation to those represented in the drivers' seats and cars.

Incidentally it may be interesting to the racing public to know that most of the men following the auto racing sport depend upon outside incomes for their living. The racing game itself nets but a few men each year a large amount of money. They enter the game usually because of the love of it and call on other resources when necessary to pay their way.

HOPE TO RULE SOUTH AGAIN

The star distance runners of the "Tar Heel" squad, Galan Elliott and Hoyt Pritchett.

The University of North Carolina, having won the southern intercollegiate track and field championship last year, hopes to retain it this year. The "Tar Heels" are depending upon the fleet feet of their runners to turn the trick. Galen Elliott and Hoyt Pritchett, shown above, lead the distance men.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The recent remark of old "Cy" Young that pitchers of today are not in the same class with the old-timers has provoked much discussion. Fandom in general is divided half and half—backing up Cy's bold assertion, and disputing it.

As a matter of fact, there is no fair method of comparison.

Conditions in baseball generally have so changed since Cy Young's day that there is no way of reckoning just what the outstanding hurlers of the "old days" could have done under existing conditions, and by the same token there is no rule or guide by which the possible achievements of the old boys under modern conditions can be estimated.

Back in "those" days of which Cy Young speaks, the average ball club had and depended upon but two or three pitchers. They had to be good—if not great—to stay. A team couldn't carry two or three mediocre hurlers. By the very virtue of the scarcity of hurlers on the team they were forced to work oftener. This gave them the chance to pile up better "games pitched" records and by the same token better win records and marks in other departments.

Because the average good hurler today turns in less than 20 victories a season is no sign that, drawn into baseball's fascination in the old days he could not have worked every second or third day with success.

The game today is a free-hitting one. Has been since the Babe Ruth started running up home run records and the ball was made "faster" to fill the desire for hitting generally. There was a period of several years, however, due to the change in the style of play forced by Ty Cobb that the science of batting and base-running was developed to the nth degree and the brunt of the blow fell on the pitchers. The bunt, the hit and run, the squeeze and other angles cut their pitching averages and piled up runs—and defeats.

Just what would have happened to Young, Radbourne, Rusie and the old masters, revered by the millions, under the conditions that existed from around 1905 to the war period is and must be a matter for conjecture—but no definite conclusions.

There is but one tangible argument that might be presented in defense of the old-timers and the decline of pitching in general. That is the record of Walter Johnson.

Johnson, through 20 seasons of baseball as it was played year in and year out, met conditions as they were and piled up a record comparable in many respects to Young's. And yet Johnson's early efforts do not date back to Young's time. Cy started his career in 1890. The game was to undergo many changes before Walt broke in with Washington 17 years later.

There can be no fair comparison between Young and his brother stars and the Alexanders, Vances, Pennocks, Coveleskies, et al of today.

They belong to two totally different eras.

Walter Kinney, who "jumped" the Athletics several years ago when the world looked rosy to him but the salary didn't fit, is one of the stars of the Portland team of the Pacific Coast League this year. He was reinstated last winter by Landis.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The general objection voiced to the possible return of Harry Frazee to the ranks of American League baseball magnates may have deterred the sale of the Cleveland Indians by Mrs. James Dunn, but has not ended the move to sell the club.

I believe the club will be sold before midseason and that E. S. Barnard, now president of the club, will step into the presidency of the American League shortly thereafter.

This is my own assumption, purely.

Barnard is the man most talked of for the post still held by Ban B. Johnson, technically at least. Barnard is recognized as the man best qualified to hold down the job, due to his knowledge of baseball law and procedure, his standing among baseball men generally and the fact that he, of all men to be considered, could readily arrange his business affairs so as to enter upon the duties free of all entangling alliances.

Because of the respect and confidence held for Barnard by Jim Dunn before his untimely death and the personal confidence she has had in Barnard, Mrs. Dunn has left the management of the club's affairs entirely in Barnard's hands. That she would care to trust such management to someone in his stead is improbable. She would not care to take personal control herself, of course.

Her personal regard for Barnard at the same time would cause her to consider seriously any move that would mean Barnard's advancement. The presidency of the league—with its salary around $40,000 a year and expenses, is a coveted one.

It has been known for some time that William P. Leach, formerly Cleveland capitalist, but more lately living in New York, has been hopeful of buying into the club. It is simply a matter of obtaining the sanction of the league regarding the personal personnel of his syndicate.

The departure of Speaker was a blow to Mrs. Dunn. The poor showing of the club to date has not held out much hope of an immediate return to popularity of the team as a whole.

Cleveland will lose a great baseball man if Barnard leaves, but most folk will be glad to see him move up—if the presidency does come his way, as I figure it will.

Frankie Frisch, traded to the Cardinals by the Giants last fall, told scribes down South last spring that he was set for a good year, due to the improvement in his health.

On Sunday, May 8, he made his first error of the season after accepting 128 chances without a boot. His hitting has been spectacular. Which proves Frankie Frisch a prophet, and a true one.

First Christian Team Vanquishes Methodists In Church League 9-2

The First Christians defeated the First Methodist team 9 to 2, in a five inning game played in the Church League on Friday night. The game was staged on Colonial Field.

"Rosy" Ryan on the mound for the Christians pitched a beautiful game, allowing but two scattered hits and fanning six of the Methodist sluggers. Leonard and Archibald divided pitching dutie for the Methodists.

Lackey with three hits, one of them a double featured in the hitting column, while Bently, Morgan, Lockley, R. Ryan, and Anderson had extra base hits.

Errors were quite frequent with the grand total of seven misplays being chalked up.

Engine Runs Wild; One Man Killed

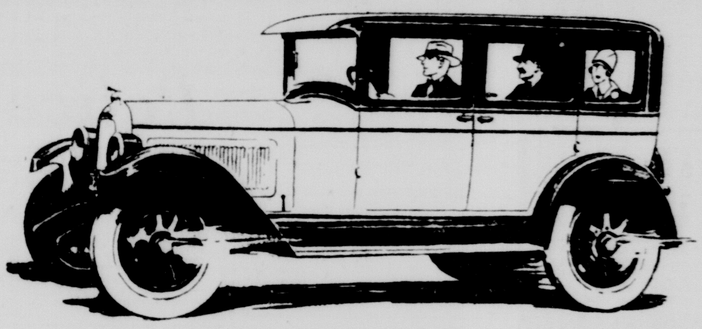

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 14. — One man was killed and a second seriously injured when a locomotive at the Pennsylvania railroad roundhouse here ran wild, early today, crashing into a brick wall near which the two men were working and crushing them.

Joseph H. Stauffer, a machinist was killed when the locomotive, in charge of a repair crew at the roundhouse suddenly started forward on a switching track. John Cornelius, a fellow workman, also in the path of the locomotive, was badly hurt. The coroner ordered an investigation.

Among those who emphasize the aim in life are the members of the Bowling Congress.—The Oakland Tribune.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

HAVING SEIZED THE UNION CAVALRY POST AT FAIRFAX COURTHOUSE (VA.), WITH ONLY 29 MEN (MARCH 7, 1863), MOSBY THE RAIDER SOUGHT COL. WYNDHAM, WHOM HE PLANNED TO CARRY OFF. TO HIS CHAGRIN HE LEARNED THAT HIS QUARRY HAD DEPARTED THAT EVENING FOR WASHINGTON. MOSBY THEN WENT TO THE LODGINGS OF STOUGHTON, THE BRIGADE COMMANDER, WHERE HE FORCED AN ENTRANCE, AND FOUND THE GENERAL IN BED.

STOUGHTON AWOKE TO FIND HIMSELF A PRISONER. THE FEDERAL OFFICER HAD NO IDEA HOW FEW THE CONFEDERATES WERE AND ACCEPTED MOSBY'S STATEMENT THAT JACKSON'S ARMY HAD CAPTURED CENTREVILLE AND WAS CLOSE AT HAND. MOSBY THEN GATHERED HIS PRISONERS AND SPOILS AND PREPARED FOR THE HAZARDOUS RETURN TO HIS OWN LINES.

MOSBY SET OUT BOLDLY AND THOUGH OBSERVED BY THE UNION PICKETS ALONG THE WAY, THE PARTY WAS MISTAKEN IN THE DIM LIGHT FOR FEDERALS. NEAR CENTREVILLE, THE RAIDERS LEFT THE ROAD AND CIRCLED AROUND THE ENEMY'S POSTS AT THAT PLACE. REACHING CUB RUN, THEY FOUND THE STREAM SWOLLEN AND THE WATER HIGH ABOVE THE FORD.

AT MOSBY'S COMMAND THEY BOLDLY PLUNGED INTO THE RUSHING WATER AND SWAM ACROSS. THEN STRIKING THE WARRENTON TURNPIKE AT GROVETON, MOSBY SPED SOUTHWARD TO CULPEPER, WHERE HE TURNED OVER HIS PRISONERS TO GEN. J. E. B. STUART AND RECEIVED THE HIGHEST PRAISE FOR HIS DARING FEAT.

N. Y. STOCKS

By W. S. COUSINS, International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Spirited bidding for the high-priced market "sensations" in the railroad, equipment, and specialty stocks constituted the principal feature of the short session of the market today.

Baldwin Locomotive, Nickel Plate Railroad common, Houston Oil and Coca Cola were the leaders in the new forward movement, but various market specialties in which a large short interest was supposed to be "locked up" in a terrific struggle with the bullish pools, were also pushed forward vigorously. As in the last two or three sessions, industrial and business news played an insignificant part in the movements of prices, the weekly trade reviews reporting considerable unsettlement in business.

Baldwin's 6-point jump to a record high price of 205½ in the first half-hour was attributed to pool activities, in which a group of powerful Chicago speculators hold the whip hand. Since only 200,000 shares of stock have been issued for Baldwin, the market supply is extremely small, and the stock lends itself easily to manipulation by powerful professionals or groups. Valuable property rights rather than big earnings and a liberal dividend policy constitute the only basis for the speculative demand for the stock.

Stock of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad pushed above 180 for the first time in the history of the road. Nickel Plate also bettered yesterday's best price by a point or two while Erie, Reading and other well-known railroad stocks were buoyant.

Producers and refiners joined Houston Oil in the "rampage" of favored oil stocks, the balance of the oils displaying a reactionary tone when it was discovered that a number of the Seminole producers are not inclined to unite in the curtailment program agreed upon at a conference in New York this week. Producers and refiners, controlled by Humble Oil company, has only a few shares in the available "floating" supply.

Weekly Stock Market Review By Expert

By W. S. COUSINS International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, May 14. — The slight decline in the volume of unfilled steel orders and in the operations of the steel mills were the only indications of a seasonal letdown in business presented this week.

The records of the building construction industry, car loadings, bank clearings and other important trade barometers ware distinctly in contrast to that of the steel trade and certainly not of a character to indicate any shrinkage in the volume of domestic business. The stiffening of some of the commodity markets was due, unfortunately, to the destruction rather than the consumption of foodstuffs and cotton and the weekly toll of floods and tornadoes was unusually high.

Announcement of the purchase by the American Federal Reserve Bank of $59,500,000 of gold from the French Government throws an interesting light on the world's monetary gold situation. The precious metal will not be shipped to America, but held abroad for the Reserve Bank. In fact, the sole reason for the buying of the gold and storing it in England, it is believed, was to prevent the immediate shipment of the metal to this country. The establishment of a foreign gold reserve for the Federal Banks is not unprecedented, an amount of $173,000,000 having been thus held in London to our credit in 1919.

The sale by the City of New York of $60,000,000 of bonds on a basis under four per cent and the prompt absorption of a $48,000,000 of Chesapeake Corporation bonds emphasized again the volume of funds seeking employment and the gradually declining borrowing basis for funds. Not since 1909 has the City of New York obtained funds by competitive bidding at a rate under four per cent; and no city bonds have been offered to the investing public as low as 3½ per cent yield basis.

The stock market was somewhat irregular and erratic this week with professionals dominating the movements of prices, and investment buying confined to a small volume of the better grade dividend—paying corporation stocks. Outside of the Nickel Plate group, the railroad stocks were quiet and featureless. Rise of New York, Chicago and St. Louis common (Nickel Plate) to a peak of $218½ a share was undoubtedly the outstanding feature of the rail stocks, the advance being due to reports of the possible distribution of a juicy melon to stockholders.

Speculative interest was also directed to the meeting of oil corporation leaders in this city, designed to curtail crude oil production, good results are expected to follow the appointment of a dictator in Mid-Continent but the relationships between Standard Oil Companies and independents are far from harmonious and Government intervention may be necessary to solve the problem. Meanwhile, oil stocks sold higher as a result of short covering rather than new speculative buying of the shares.

Spasmodic efforts of the bearish professionals to cause a wide depression in industrial stock prices were generally without result. A good foundation of buying orders was apparent at the lower price levels, and moderate recoveries followed periodic depressions of prices of active stocks. Up to the time of the declaration of the $2 extra dividend on General Motors common, the pool or pools in that stock had not succeeded in pushing the price to the goal of $200 a share.

Officials Probe Blast At Mine

(International News Service)

PARNASSUS, Pa., May 14.—Westmoreland county authorities today were investigating a blast that wrecked a fan house of the Valley Camp Coal company's Kinlock mine near here. Two shots of dynamite were said to have been used.

Recently notices to vacate have been posted at the Kilock mine with the announcement the company was planning to reopen on a non-union basis. Approximately 900 miners will be affected.

Commissioners Have Rights Of Guardian

Under the act governing the operation of county poor farms the county commissioners become trustees for the estate of an inmate who owns property, and upon the filing of papers showing such trusteeship, the commissioners have all the rights of a guardian of an inmates' estate. The first case of the kind since the county took over the poor districts came up this morning when Commissioners' Attorney John P. Lockhart, made out the necessary papers under which the commissioners have the rights of guardianship. The commissioners can now secure allowances from the estate of the indigent toward his support.

GETS NEW RUG

Office of County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling, has been beautified by the addition of a new rug, an improvement badly needed for some time. The colors of the room are also being refinished.

YOUNGSTOWN—Independent steel companies in the Youngstown district will maintain average operating rate of 70 per cent next week, while the United States Steel Corporation subsidiaries expect to operate between 75 and 80 per cent.

Paisley Returns From Harrisburg

Scott Paisley of this city, president of the Western Pennsylvania Druggist Association has returned to New Castle after a trip to Harrisburg, Pa.

Mr. Paisley went to Harrisburg to be present at the signing of House Bill 1370, which prohibits the establishment of chain drug stores in Pennsylvania. Under the terms of the bill which was introduced by Representative Ellwood Turner of Delaware County, every drug store established must be owned by a registered pharmacist.

In company with other officials of the druggist association Mr. Paisley saw Governor John S. Fisher affix his signature to the bill.

"And now?"

"Now she expects me to cave-in everytime we have an argument."

U. S. Supreme Court Recent Decisions Are Of Great Importance

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 14.—Laws under which Americans live are being constantly discarded, altered, or defined, with highly important consequences, although the legislative branch of the Federal Government is not in session.

Decisions affecting the rights and duties of citizens under federal, state, and city laws have been made during the current term of the United States Supreme Court, which will adjourn June 6. Every Monday this most august branch of the government hands down its decisions, always final, and often momentous in their determination of the powers of the government and the rights of citizens.

Three of the decisions already handed down in this term have made history by defining or limiting fundamental powers of the legislative and the executive branches of the Federal Government.

Two of these decisions gave more power to Congress, in one case depriving the executive departments of a power formerly exercised without congressional authorization; the third gave to the president a power hitherto believed to be partly limited by the Senate. All three decisions have great political significance.

In the Mal Daugherty case, the Supreme Court ruled that Congressional investigating committees, with a view to legislation, may require production of evidence and testimony from unwilling witnesses. This decision of the Supreme Court greatly increases the power of Congress to perform the function of investigation which it has frequently used in recent years.

In the Elk Hills Case—a case connected with the "oil scandals" of 1924— the Supreme Court held that Congress alone has the power to authorize the removal of the Navy's oil reserves from the ground. During the Harding administration, the president transferred from the Secretary of the Navy to the Secretary of the Interior the power to make contracts for the removal of oil reserves at Elk Hills, Calif.

The case giving more power to the president finally decided a question which has been debated for more than a hundred years, the question of whether or not a president may summarily remove from office an appointive official, for whose appointment the consent of the Senate is necessary. The recent Supreme Court decision upheld President Wilson's removal of a Portland, Ore., postmaster.

This decision means that members of all independent boards and commissions, such as the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Radio Commission, may be dismissed by the President without further recourse on their part. This, it is argued by those criticizing the Supreme Court's decision, gives the president absolute control over the acts of such officials, but those approving the decision argue that, as the President is held responsible for the acts of these officials, he should have the power to remove them without interference from the Senate.

In addition to these decisions affecting the fundamental powers of the different branches of the Federal Government, the Supreme Court has recently decided upon the constitutionality of several important state laws and city ordinances.

Two cases decided by the Supreme Court upheld the right of cities to enact and enforce zoning ordinances.

The right of a state to sterilize incompetents and imbeciles in state institutions was upheld in the case of an appeal from the Virginia sterilization law. This law is therefore likely to become a model for similar laws in other states. The woman who appealed the case was the illegitimate child of an imbecile mother, and herself had illegitimate and imbecile children. "Three generations of imbeciles is enough," one of the Supreme Court justices commented.

A decision that received less widespread approval than the sterilization decision was that which, by a five to four vote, determined that a state has no right to limit the charge which a theater ticket agency may make in excess of the price printed on the ticket. The New York "ticket scalping" law was held unconstitutional, on the grounds that it deprived citizens of property without due process of law. The same plea was made in the Virginia sterilization law, along with other arguments, but some explain the difference in the two decisions on the grounds that the Supreme Court sees a danger in an extension of government powers of price-fixing, which it does not see in granting the power to render imbeciles incapable of producing other imbeciles.

Another significant decision was that which invalidated the Texas law prohibiting negroes from voting in the Democratic primaries of that state. The Supreme Court held that this law deprived the negro of his constitutional right to vote, inasmuch as the party primary is a part of the election machinery.

A decision in which the Supreme Court "liberals", Justice Holmes and Justice Brandeis, dissented, was that which held that it is a violation of the anti-trust laws for a labor union to refuse to work on non-union materials shipped in from other states. The case arose out of the refusal of union stonecutters in other states to work on stone cut by non-union labor in Indiana.

With only three more Mondays left for handing down decisions in this session of the Supreme Court—May 23, May 30 and June 6—the following are among the important cases still undecided:

The constitutionality of the California criminal syndicalism law.

The constitutionality of laws now in effect in 42 states guaranteeing the validity of contracts made under the several state co-operative marketing laws.

Five important anti-trust cases, involving new definitions of the powers of the Federal Trade Commission in restraining monopolies.

The legality of Coast Guard seizures of American ships carrying liquor outside the 12-mile limit.

The case which will determine whether or not the government can collect income taxes on the illegal profits of bootleggers.

The case which will determine whether or not a commutation of a death sentence to life imprisonment must be accepted by the convicted person before being made effective.

The constitutionality of the Harrison anti-narcotic act.

These cases have all been argued, but it is hardly likely that all of them will be decided before the court adjourns on June 6, not to convene again until October.

Harmony Junction Bridge To Open

BUTLER, Pa., May 14—Closed for more than two years, the Harmony Junction bridge over the big Connoquenessing in all probability will be reopened within the next few months, as a bid for repairs and replacements for it were let today by the Butler county commissioners, to the Harris Engineering company, of Pittsburgh, at their bid of $3,750. There were but two bidders.

The bridge is situated in Jackson township. When engineers first viewed the bridge it was their belief the present structure was beyond repair, but finally the Pittsburgh firm decided the necessary repairs could be made at a big saving to the county over what a new bridge would cost.

Work on repairing the bridge, it is understood, will commence at once.

As we go to press Mr. Coolidge enters his 218th day of silence about that third term business.

Their splendid courage has touched the imagination of America and there is everywhere the most earnest hope that they may still be found. I assure you that this government is doing everything humanly possible to assist in the search and I pray that this search may issue in success."
